Postgame... Boston at Kansas City

BOSTON DRESSING ROOM:

As they returned to their dressing room, after defeating Kansas City, and learned that Oakland led Buffalo, 10-0, in the third quarter, the Boston players shared a moment of jubilation and then knelt to pray.

"It was a close game, all the way," Coach Mike Holovak of Boston said. "We've won five straight now and the pressure is on us all the time," he said, as he pointed out ^{that} the Chiefs' long ~~knazhdnna~~ pass ~~that went~~ to the one-yard line put a tremendous psychological barrier in front of his team, ^{as the game began.}

"That was a great catch by Jackson. You don't want them covered any better than that. Webb was only half a step behind. Webb fell when he tried to tackle Jackson after the Chiefs' flanker had the ball."

Holovak said he didn't feel sure of the outcome until the Patriots intercepted a long Dawson pass as the game had only about a minute left.

"It was a great effort by Boston," Holovak said. "They've been playing this way all year. We've never had our full squad from the very first game. I think they've don/a helluva job."

"The weather and field make a big difference," he said, "You can't run too much. Sure, Hill broke away. We were anticipating a pass and we missed a couple of tackles."

"I thought the Chiefs looked much better offensively than when they played us before," he said. Holovak explained that Kansas City used a double-wing offense briefly, but nothing else that Boston didn't expect.

Speaking of his record number of points, made this year in the AFL, Gino Cappelletti, said "The records come all right. I was thinking of the win, though."

Postgame... Kansas City vs. Boston.

KANSAS CITY DRESSING ROOM:

The ability of Boston Quarterback Babe Parilli to come up with the right play at the right time, and the inability of the Chiefs to control the Patriot blitz, were cited this afternoon by Coach Hank Stram, as the main reasons for his club's 24-31, loss.

"Babe did a remarkable job, he's the guy who makes them go and he certainly did a great job with them today. He consistently came up with key third-down plays that kept them in the ball game," Stram said.

The Chiefs coach was at a loss to explain the effectiveness of the Boston blitz.

"There was no reason in the world why we should have had that much trouble with their blitzing. They do it no differently than anybody else. It's just that we were not able to cope with it today."

Coach Stram cited injuries as playing a key role in this game, just as they have in others during the season. He said ~~his~~ not knowing whether Abner Haynes or Mack Lee Hill would be ready for the game, caused some definite shifts in offensive plans. Injuries also forced the Chiefs to use an inexperienced player on the Chiefs' five when Jerald Wilson was forced the punt.

"Instead of blocking out, the boy blocked down, and left a man open to hit Jerald," Stram said.

Boston took over on that play and subsequently scored a field goal. The Chiefs also were forced to play most of the game without the services of linebacker Sherrill Headrick, who reinjured his knee, early in the game. Smoky Stover went in for Headrick, but Stram cited Stover's inexperience at this post as one reason why the Chiefs couldn't be as effective in their blitzing. Stram said it was questionable that Headrick would be ready for next week's game at San Diego. He said he didn't feel his club would have "any problem getting up for San Diego."

Stram cited the 71-yard run by Hill and the pass-catching of Frank Jackson as bright spots in an otherwise bleak day for the Chiefs.
