REGULAR SEASON - WEEK 5

Sunday, Oct. 6 | 1:00 p.m. ET

REDSKINS HOST DEFENDING SUPER BOWL CHAMPION PATRIOTS

The Washington Redskins will look to earn their first win of the season when they play host to the defending Super Bowl champion New England Patriots on Sunday. Kickoff at FedExField is scheduled for 1:00 p.m. EST.

The Redskins last matchup against New England in the regular season was in Week 9 of the 2015 season when they fell to the Patriots, 27-10 at Gillette Stadium. The last time that the Redskins hosted the Patriots at FedExField was in Week 14 of the 2011 when they were edged 34-27. Washington will look to secure their first win over New England since Week 4 of the 2003 season.

This will be the second-consecutive season that the Redskins will host the defending Super Bowl champions at FedExField. Last season, Washington hosted the Philadelphia Eagles at FedExField in Week 17. The last time that Washington defeated a defending Super Bowl champion was in 2012 when they defeated the New York Giants, 17-16 at FedExField in Week 13.

Head Coach Jay Gruden commented on the Redskins defense and the challenges that the Patriots offense presents during his press conference with the local media on Monday.

"I feel good about the thought of our defense being great," said Gruden. "We're just not there yet, but we're getting better. We've played four games already, we've gotta turn it up quick. We're playing the best quarterback in NFL history this week."

HEAD COACH JAY GRUDEN

Jay Gruden enters his sixth season with the Washington Redskins in 2019 after being named the 29th head coach in franchise history on January 9, 2014.

Previously a decorated quarterback in the college and Arena Football League ranks and a successful NFL assistant, Gruden has showcased his offensive acumen honed from his diverse football background throughout his tenure with the Redskins.

In 2018, the Redskins won at least seven games for their fourth straight season and tied the last such streak that took place between a four-year span from 1999-2002. The team started out 6-3 and was 2-0 against the NFC East before losing starting quarterback Alex Smith to a season-ending leg injury. Following the injury to Smith, the team started three different quarterbacks to end the season. It was the first time in the Super Bowl Era that the Redskins started four or more different quarterbacks in a single season.

In 2017, the Redskins won at least seven games for their third straight season for the first time since a four-year streak from 1999-2002, marking the fourth-longest streak of seven-win seasons in team history. Gruden's team reached seven wins despite dealing with substantial injury issues throughout the season, as 72 different players appeared in game action for the squad, the second-most used by the team in a single season since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger, trailing only the 108 used to complete the 1987 strike season.

A year earlier, Gruden guided the Redskins to an 8-7-1 record in 2016, giving the franchise back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since 1996-97. The team was led by Gruden's record-shattering offense, which posted team records in total net yards (6,545), net passing yards (4,758) and yards per play (6.40), ranking in the Top 3 in the NFL in all three categories.

Gruden's offense — once called "easily one of the three or four best designed offenses in the NFL" by Andy Benoit of The MMQB — was more than just historically efficient and explosive that season. The distribution of the offensive contributions allowed eight Redskins players (DeSean Jackson, Pierre Garçon, Jamison Crowder, Rob Kelley, Chris Thompson, Jordan Reed, Vernon Davis and Matt Jones) to finish the season with at least 500 yards from scrimmage, tying the 2011 New Orleans Saints for the most in a single season in NFL history.

In 2015, Gruden led the Redskins to an NFC East Championship, posting a 9-7 record to complete the second "worst-to-first" turnaround in team history. Gruden became the sixth coach in team history to lead the Redskins to a playoff berth within the first two years at the helm, joining Ray Flaherty, Dutch Bergman, Dudley DeGroot, George Allen and Joe Gibbs.

Under Gruden's guidance, the 2015 Redskins featured what was at the time the most prolific passing attack in franchise history. Quarterback Kirk Cousins, named the starter in the middle of the preseason, set then-single-season team records for attempts (543), completions (379), passing yards (4,166) and 300-yard passing games (seven) while throwing 29 touchdown passes, including at least one in all 16 games. Cousins' success coincided with the emergence of tight end Jordan Reed, who finished the season with 87 receptions for 952 yards (both team records for a tight end) with 11 receiving touchdowns.

Gruden assumed control of the Redskins in 2014 and guided the team through a campaign in which three different quarterbacks (Robert Griffin III, Kirk Cousins and Colt McCoy) recorded victories as starters. He installed an offensive system that produced two Pro Bowlers in his first season (tackle Trent Williams and running back Alfred Morris).

Excluding interim coaches, Gruden, 46 at the time of his hiring, became the team's youngest head coaching hire since hiring eventual Pro Football Hall of Famer Joe Gibbs at 40 years of age in 1981. He became the first Redskins head coach hired directly from an offensive coordinator role on another team since Norv Turner in 1994.

Before joining the Redskins, Gruden spent his previous three seasons as offensive coordinator for the Cincinnati Bengals. In his tenure in Cincinnati, the Bengals averaged 10 wins a season, making three consecutive playoff appearances and earning an AFC North championship in 2013. Members of the Bengals' offense accounted for seven Pro Bowl selections in his three seasons in Cincinnati.

Gruden was tasked with the development of quarterback Andy Dalton, a 2011 second-round pick. In three seasons together, Gruden helped Dalton to a 30-18 regular season record as a starter (.625), as Dalton's 30 wins in that time frame ranked tied for fifth-most among NFL quarterbacks. Dalton's 80 passing touchdowns ranked third-most in NFL history for a quarterback in his first three seasons, trailing only Dan Marino (98) and Peyton Manning (85).

Prior to joining the Bengals, Gruden served two years with the Florida Tuskers of the United Football League from 2009-10. In 2009, Gruden served as offensive coordinator as the Tuskers compiled a 6-0 regular season record and earned a UFL championship game berth. In 2010, he assumed the roles of head coach and general manager and led the Tuskers to their second consecutive championship game appearance.

Gruden coached for seven seasons (2002-08) with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, earning a Super Bowl championship ring as an offensive assistant in 2002. There he worked under his brother, Jon (then the Bucs' head coach), and current Redskins President Bruce Allen (the Bucs' general manager from 2004-08). Gruden helped guide the Buccaneers to the team's first championship, a 48-21 victory in Super Bowl XXXVII.

Gruden also ranks among the most outstanding players and coaches in the history of the Arena Football League, having won six combined league championships — four as a quarterback and two as a head coach. Gruden played quarterback (2002-03) and served as head coach (2004-08) of the AFL's Orlando Predators while simultaneously working as an offensive assistant with the Buccaneers. In all, Gruden served as head coach of the Predators for nine seasons (1998-2001 and 2004-08), leading the Predators to four championship game appearances and two league titles as a coach. During a two-year hiatus from coaching the Predators in 2002-03, he returned to the playing field as Orlando's quarterback, leading the Predators to playoff appearances in both seasons.

In his eight seasons as a player in the AFL, Gruden completed 1,673-of-2,775 passes (60.3 percent) for 21,578 yards with 398 touchdowns and 99 interceptions. In addition to his time with Orlando, he spent six seasons (1991-96) at quarterback for the Tampa Bay Storm, winning four AFL titles and being named MVP of Arena Bowl VII in 1993. He was also named the 1992 AFL Most Valuable Player and was honored with induction into the AFL Hall of Fame in 1999.

Gruden played quarterback for four seasons for former Redskins draft pick Howard Schnellenberger at the University of Louisville (1985-88) and was a two-time team MVP.

Gruden was born March 4, 1967, in Tiffin, Ohio. He and his wife, Sherry, have three sons — J.J., Joey and Jack — and a grandson, Trey.

GAME RELEASE

THE OPPONENT

The New England Patriots head into FedExField to take on the Washington Redskins, and have picked up right where they left off from their Super Bowl victory. The Pats are 4-0 going into Sunday's game after having defeated the Buffalo Bills 16-10. New England boasts one of the NFL's best defenses with holding top three rankings in total defense, passing and rushing.

Father Time has yet to call Patriots quarterback Tom Brady's number. The 42-year-old has yet again set the bar high in what will be his 19th season. Brady continues to lead an offense that is once again taking the NFL by storm. He has posted 1,061 yards going 90-for-145 and seven touchdowns to one pick. The future Hall-of-Famer is also tied for 10th in the NFL for passing touchdowns with seven.

The Patriots have another efficient offense to keep an eye on, ranking fifth in scoring offense this season. Thanks to a high-level core of receivers, the Patriots multiple threats at the position. Pro Bowl Wide Receiver Julian Edelman ranks top among Patriots wide-outs in receiving yards with 226. Fifth-year Miami product Phillip Dorsett ranks third in the AFC in touchdowns (three).

New England's rushing game is also looking strong this season. Ranking second in touchdowns, the Patriots are led by second-year man out of Georgia, Sony Michel. Michel has 171 yards on 82 attempts and two touchdowns.

The Patriots have a stout defense, currently ranked first in the NFL in total defense (243 yards per game). Safety Devin McCourty leads the league in interceptions (four), picking off a pass in each game this season. He and his backfield partner Cornerback Stephon Gilmore aim to keep up the ball-hawking all season for this second-ranked passing defense. Linebacker Dont'a Hightower has contributed to a top tier rushing defense. The defense has only allowed one offensive touchdown going into Week 5.

Kicker Stephen Gostkowski has made 7-of-8 field goals and 11-of-15 point after attempts. Taking up the punting duties is Jake Bailey. Bailey has recorded 1,010 yards and has 10 punts pinned inside the 20-yard line this season.

BILL BELICHICK

Head Coach Bill Belichick is in his 45th NFL season and 20th season as head coach of the New England Patriots. The most decorated head coach in NFL history with six Super Bowl victories [LIII, LI, XLIX, XXXIX, XXXVIII, XXXVI], Belichick has the most career wins among all active head coaches and is third all-time in victories [295] for a head coach, behind Pro Football Hall of Famers Don Shula [347] and George Halas [324].

Belichick has delivered consistent success during the regular season throughout his tenure with the Patriots. As head coach, Belichick's Patriots have maintained a winning record for 18 consecutive seasons [2001-18], trailing only Tom Landry's Dallas Cowboys [1966-85] with 20 consecutive winning seasons. His 10 consecutive AFC East championships are the most all-time by an NFL head coach.

The Patriots' success during the regular season has extended into the playoffs over the past two decades. Since he was hired by Patriots Chairman and CEO Robert Kraft in 2000, Belichick has led the Patriots to an overall record of 254-89 [as of 2018], including 30 playoff victories, over his 19 seasons coaching the team. On top of his six Super Bowl victories, Belichick has delivered nine conference championships for New England.

Since 2010, the Patriots have accumulated 129 wins, which breaks their previous record of 126 victories from 2000-09. They are the first team in NFL history to record four 500-point seasons [2007, 2010, 2011, 2012] and Belichick is the first head coach to lead a team to three consecutive 500-point seasons.

Belichick's Patriots enter 2019 as reigning Super Bowl champions, after defeating the Los Angeles Rams 13-3 in Super Bowl LIII. His most recent Super Bowl victory gave him his eighth Super Bowl ring, two of which were won with the New York Giants [1986, 1990]. The Patriots' appearance in the AFC Conference championship in 2019 was their eighth straight since 2011, a season which ended in a Super Bowl appearance.

After defeating the New York Jets in Week 17 of the 2017 season, Belichick tied Landry with his 250th regular season win. Against the Jets in Week 16 of the 2016 season, Belichick recorded his 200th regular season win with the Patriots to become just the fifth head coach in NFL history to do so with one team. The 2016 Patriots would go on to become the first team to win a Super Bowl in overtime, after coming back from a 28-3 deficit in the third quarter to defeat the Atlanta Falcons in Super Bowl LI.

From 2011-15, the Patriots won 82 regular season and postseason games, while losing just 23 games. Their 2014 season resulted in a victory in Super Bowl XLIX against the Seattle Seahawks.

Prior to their current reign of AFC dominance, Belichick and the Patriots achieved sustained success from 2001-07. Belichick was named NFL Coach of the Year by the Associated Press in 2007 for leading the Patriots to an undefeated regular season and conference championship. He became the only head coach to record a 16-0 regular season in NFL history. The Patriots became the first team in NFL history to open a season with 18 straight wins and set a then-NFL record for points (589) and touchdowns (75) in a season.

From 2001-04, the Patriots won 48 games in the regular season and postseason combined, which culminated in three Super Bowl victories [XXXIX, XXXVIII, XXXVI]. The team went 14-2 in 2003 and in 2004, and added another 3 wins in the playoffs, which brought their total to an unprecedented 34 wins over two years, the highest two-year win total in NFL history.

Belichick's Patriots have missed the playoffs just three times during Belichick's coaching tenure in New England.

Before his coaching career began with the Patriots, Belichick spent five seasons with the Cleveland Browns [1991-95] as head coach and posted a 36-44 record. He led the team to an 11-5 season in 1994 and earned a first-round Wildcard playoff win that season. The 1995 season was disrupted by a mid-season announcement that the Browns franchise would be moved to Baltimore, a move which would not include Belichick.

SERIES HISTORY/DID YOU KNOW

Sunday's matchup between the Redskins and the Patriots marks the 11th meeting between the two teams. The first meeting was Oct. 1, 1972, when the Pats edged out a 24-23 win.

The Redskins lead the all-time series advantage, holding a 6-4 record. Washington holds the longest winning streak of the series, walking away with six straight wins from 1978-2003.

GAME RELEASE

LAST MEETING

Patriots 27, Redskins 10

Associated Press
Nov. 8, 2015

FOXBOROUGH, Mass. -- It was a little more than 10 minutes into the game and the score was already lopsided.

New England touchdowns: 2. Washington total plays from scrimmage: 1.

Julian Edelman and LeGarrette Blount had already scored by the time the Redskins snapped the ball a second time, and the Patriots remained unbeaten on Sunday with a 27-10 victory over Washington.

Despite being held to a season-low in points, New England's chance at another 16-0 regular season was never threatened. The Patriots took advantage of an onside kick and an interception to open a 14-0 lead before the Washington defense could catch its breath.

"I just felt like we never had the ball in the first quarter," Washington coach Jay Gruden said. "I just never felt like we got in a rhythm."

Tom Brady completed 26 of 39 passes for 299 yards and two touchdowns, including an 8-yard TD to Edelman on the opening drive. New England (8-0) then pulled off a surprise onside kick, but that drive stalled when Edelman fumbled.

Washington could manage only a single play: Kirk Cousins' pass that bounced off Pierre Garcon and was intercepted by Logan Ryan. New England then marched down the field to make it 14-0 on Blount's 5-yard score.

"We had a good drive early, had an opportunity to get on top and play from ahead," Patriots coach Bill Belichick said. "That was definitely helpful."

Washington (3-5) managed just 15 total yards in the first -- most of it, and their only first down, on a 9-yard pass on the final play of the quarter. But the Patriots weren't done, tying an NFL record by scoring in 31 straight quarters -- every one this season except the first quarter of the first game.

Cousins was 22 for 40 for 217 yards, but he was hurt early by seven dropped passes. Washington managed only a second-quarter field goal before Cousins hit Jordan Reed for a 3-yard touchdown with 25 seconds left.

"Our guys are better than that," said Cousins, who fell to 5-12 as the starting quarterback. "It's encouraging to know that today was more of a fluke than a norm."

At least it wasn't as bad as the Redskins' last visit to Foxborough: New England won 52-7 in 2007, the last time the Patriots started a season 8-0. They won all 16 regular-season games and then two more in the playoffs that year before losing to the New York Giants in the Super Bowl.

But while Washington held the Patriots to a season-low 27 points, » Including their eight selections in the 2018 NFL Draft, the Redskins have now selected eight or more players in three consecutive drafts for the first time since the NFL adopted the seven-round format in 1994.

» With the 10 selections, the Redskins have now drafted at least 10 players in three of the last five NFL drafts.

The selections using compensatory picks were the most by the Redskins and the first selections using a compensatory pick since the organization drafted NT Chris Neild with a compensatory pick in the 2011 NFL Draft.

DIVISION PARITY

Parity has been a topic de jour in recent years, and the league-wide trends provide the evidence. Each year since the 12-team playoff format was adopted in 1990, at least four teams have qualified for the playoffs after missing the postseason the year before. Through 2018, the NFC East and the AFC West are the only divisions to have all four teams earn at least one division title since 2011.

The Washington Redskins bolstered their depth at the running back position last season by signing seven-time Pro Bowler Adrian Peterson on Aug. 20, 2018 after losing second-round pick Derrius Guice to a torn ACL in the first preseason game.

The signing ended up being one of the best moves of 2018. Peterson went on to have his best statistical season since 2015.

Against the Cardinals in Week 1, Peterson rushed for 96 yards on 26 carries and caught two passes for 70 yards. He was the only player in Week 1 to lead a team in both rushing and receiving.

In Week 3, Peterson rushed for 120 yards on 19 carries (6.3 avg.) and scored two rushing touchdowns to help the Redskins secure their first home win of the season, defeating the Green Bay Packers, 31-17. He was awarded the FedEx Ground Player of the Week Award for his efforts against Green Bay. He added 97 yards on 17 carries in the Redskins, 23-17, win over the Carolina Panthers in Week 6 and 99 yards on 24 carries in the team's Week 7 victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

In Week 8 at the New York Giants, Peterson put on a vintage performance. He finished the game with 149 yards on 26 carries, including a 64 yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter to seal the game. He also hauled in a seven yard touchdown reception in the first quarter. Peterson scored two rushing touchdowns in Week 11 against Houston and passed Hall of Famer John Riggins for No. 6 on the NFL's all-time list.

Peterson broke a 90-yard touchdown run in Week 13 against Philadelphia, which ranks as the longest run from scrimmage in his career and in Redskins history. Peterson passed Hall of Famer Barry Sanders for the most 50-plus yard rushing touchdowns in NFL history.

He has been selected to seven Pro Bowls and was the 2012 NFL MVP after finishing second all-time in rushing yards for a single season (2,097). The 12th-year pro currently ranks fourth all-time in yards per game (89.0), fifth all-time in rushing touchdowns (107) and is eighth in rushing yards (13,380).

BIG PLAYS FROM THE BEST

Among the running backs in the top 10 in rushing yards in NFL history, Adrian Peterson has the second longest run in that group. Only Tony Dorsett has a longer run than Peterson's 90-yard touchdown vs. Philadelphia

CARRYING THE LOAD

Entering the 2018 offseason, there were plenty of questions about the durability of 32-year-old free agent running back Adrian Peterson. Unsigned through the first two weeks of the pre-season, the Redskins signed the veteran running back to help fill the void in the backfield after the season ending injury to rookie RB Derrius Guice. Peterson answered all of the doubts concerning his durability and ability to handle a starting workload at his age. He finished the regular season with 16 starts and was top 10 in both rushing attempts and rushing yards, finishing the season with 251 carries for 1,042 rushing yards.

GAME RELEASE

CASE KEENUM

The Washington Redskins first move of the 2019 offseason was facilitating a trade with the Denver Broncos to acquire veteran signal caller Case Keenum on March 13th.

Keenum comes to Washington after starting games throughout his seven year NFL career with the Houston Texans, St. Louis/Los Angeles Rams, Minnesota Vikings and Denver Broncos. Keenum has appeared in 57 games with 54 starts during that span and has completed 1,144-of-1,844 passes for 12,661 yards with 64 touchdowns, 42 interceptions and a career passer rating of 84.5.

Keenum was named the starting quarterback following the team's Week 3 preseason game against the Atlanta Falcons.

Through two games with Washington, Keenum has thrown for 601 yards with 5 touchdowns and zero interceptions.

He is coming off of one of his best career years statistically. In 2018 with Denver, Keenum finished with career highs in attempts (586), completions (365) and passing yards (3,890). It was also the first time in Keenum's career that he started in all 16 games in the regular season.

"He's got his own style, that's for sure. There's not a lot you can do to change a quarterback's style this late in his career, but for the most part, when it's all said and done and the ball's snapped, there are parts of his game that he's comfortable with doing and he probably won't change, and some of them are very good."

on Keenum's playing style during training camp

In 2017, Keenum helped lead the Minnesota Vikings to the NFC Championship game and held a 12-4 overall record that seasons including playoff games. During the regular season, Keenum led the Vikings to an 11-3 record in games that he started. He finished the regular season with 325 completions for 3,547 yards, 22 touchdowns and a 98.3 passer rating. His passer rating and touchdown passes that year were both his career highs for a single season.

Keenum also brings postseason experience to the Redskins quarterback room. The Houston product has appeared in two playoff games during his career, both with the Minnesota Vikings. Keenum led the Vikings to a 29-24 victory over the New Orleans Saints in the NFC Divisional Round in 2017. He finished that game 25-for-40 with 318 yards and a game-winning 61 yard touchdown pass to WR Stefan Diggs as time expired. The play would later be dubbed the 'Minneapolis Miracle'. Keenum and the Vikings would fall to the Philadelphia Eagles in the NFC Championship game 38-7, with Keenum finishing 28-for-48 for 271 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions.

COLT MCCOY

“Well, he’s been here six years. He’s been here, he knows the system, he’s experienced and has a live arm and he’s a great competitor. From an experience standpoint in this offense, I know he hasn’t played a whole lot, but it does help that when I call a play we’ve been running for five or six years that you know where to look and what side of the field to read as opposed to seeing it for the first time”

- Head Coach Jay Gruden on Colt McCoy

AIRING IT OUT

Colt McCoy has earned a reputation of throwing the deep ball during his career in college and in the pro’s. McCoy has connected on six 40-plus yard touchdown passes in his NFL career.

After an injury to quarterback Alex Smith last season, veteran quarterback Colt McCoy took over the starting role in the midst of his ninth NFL season.

McCoy has had his chances in Washington, having been with the organization since 2014. McCoy has played in 11 games for the Redskins, including four starts for the team in 2014.

“Colt’s always ready,” said center Chase Roullier. “Colt is the strongest competitor I think I’ve ever seen. He’s ready to go at any snap, he prepares like he’s a starter every single day. I have all the confidence in Colt going out there, as soon as he comes in, it’s just the next man up and we’re ready to go.”

A third round pick in the 2010 NFL Draft out of the University of Texas, McCoy has filled a number of roles through his NFL career. During stops with the Cleveland Browns, San Francisco 49ers and Washington Redskins, McCoy has started and backed up effectively.

McCoy made his first start this season against Dallas on Thanksgiving Day and finished 24-for-38 with 268 yards, two touchdowns and three interceptions.

McCoy has also proven to be nimble and showed an ability to scramble immediately after relieving Alex Smith. McCoy notched five rushes for 35 yards against Houston. In his career, McCoy has 123 rushes for 455 yards and two touchdowns.

GAME RELEASE

JORDAN REED

In recent seasons, Redskins players have often extolled the ability of tight end Jordan Reed to anyone who will listen.

"I think he is an excellent player, he is a difference maker on offense. Tight ends that can win in zone and man coverage are hard to find. When you get that matchup, it is very easy for a quarterback to find."

- Head Coach Jay Gruden
on Tight End Jordan Reed

The NFL officially took notice in 2016 when Reed earned his first career Pro Bowl selection, the first by a Redskins tight end since Chris Cooley in 2008. Reed joined Cooley (2007-08), Stephen Alexander (2000), Jean Fugett (1977) and Jerry Smith (1967 and 1969) as the only Redskins tight ends to earn Pro Bowl honors since the game's inception in 1950.

Despite being limited by injury to only 12 games with eight starts in 2016, the ex-college-quarterback recorded 66 receptions for 686 yards with six receiving touchdowns. A year earlier, he compiled arguably the greatest season by a tight end in franchise history. During the 2015 regular season, Reed recorded 87 receptions for 952 yards (both team records for a tight end) with 11 receiving touchdowns, becoming the first tight end to lead the Redskins in all three categories since Fugett in 1977.

"I like Jordan a lot. I think he is an excellent player, he is a difference maker on offense. Tight ends that can win in zone and man coverage are hard to find," Head Coach Jay Gruden said at his end of the year press conference in 2018. "When you get that matchup, it is very easy for a quarterback to find. The passes that don't have to be 35 yards down the field, they can be eight-to-10 yard intermediate-type passes that he can run after the catch, his blocking has improved and is going to continue to get better the stronger that he gets. We just have to get him healthy, but he is a dynamic player, a great athlete, works extremely hard, a great kid, never late and he's a big part of the success of this football team moving forward in my opinion."

In 65 career games with 35 starts for Washington, Reed has compiled 329 career receptions for 3,371 yards with 24 receiving touchdowns. In Week 4 of the 2016 season against Cleveland, Reed recorded his 200th career reception in his 38th career game, becoming the fastest tight end to reach 200 career receptions in NFL history, surpassing Pro Football Hall of Famer Kellen Winslow Sr.

In Week 8 of the 2018 season, Reed hauled in his 300th reception becoming the 10th Redskin all-time to accomplish the feat and the third tight end. He also became the second fastest tight end to record 300 reception in NFL history behind Hall of Famer Kellen Winslow Sr. [57 games].

VERNON DAVIS

What does it take to have coaches, teammates and broadcasters refer to you as "The Ageless One"?

How about a 6-foot-3, 244-pound veteran registering only 3.8 percent body fat entering his 13th NFL season? What about that same man reportedly still running the 40-yard dash in the 4.4 range into his mid-30s?

For Vernon Davis, those astoundingly true facts tell only part of the story. A native of Washington, D.C., Davis came home in free agency in 2016 and has delivered 96 catches and 1,380 yards in his first three seasons in burgundy and gold. At age 32-34 in those seasons, he ranks second only to Redskins legend Jerry Smith in receptions among tight ends age 30 or older in team history and first in receiving yards, according to records provided by Pro Football Reference.

Davis took sole possession of seventh on the NFL's all-time career touchdown reception list among tight ends, passing Redskins great Jerry Smith after hauling in a 22-yard touchdown reception in the Redskins, 23-17, win vs. the Carolina Panthers in Week 6 of the 2018 season.

He now ranks in the top 10 in NFL history in career receptions, receiving yards and receiving touchdowns by a tight end. Davis passed Hall of Famer Shannon Sharpe for No. 6 on the NFL's all-time list for touchdown receptions by a tight end after recording a 48-yard touchdown against the Eagles in Week 1.

"We all should get on Vernon Davis' diet. I mean, really. The guy's a freak. He's the most impressive guy I've been around really as far as taking care of his body, and whatever he's doing, he needs to tell all our young guys to do it because he's amazing.

He's running around like a 20-year-old kid. We're going to have to try to dive into that but I know he has a great routine in the offseason, during the season. His diet is top-notch. His workouts are on point. Not to mention he prepares and he's just always got a smile on his face.

He's just one of those guys you look forward to seeing every day and then you watch him practice and it's always hard and effective. Great guy, great player."

TERRY MCLAURIN

The Redskins drafted Wide Receiver Terry McLaurin out of Ohio State in the third round of the 2019 NFL Draft. In doing so, Washington may have landed one of the biggest steals of the draft. The 6-foot, 210 pound receiver posted the fifth fastest 40 time in the NFL Combine [4.35] and wasted no time displaying his speed at the NFL level. McLaurin spent training camp blowing by defensive backs and brandishing a well-rounded route tree, earning him a starting nod in his first NFL game in Week 1 against the Philadelphia Eagles.

In his first-ever NFL game, McLaurin finished with 125 yards and a touchdown on five receptions. His reputation of being a burner showed to be as true as advertised in the second quarter. With the Redskins leading 10-0, McLaurin dusted Eagles Cornerback Roushal Douglas on a post en route to a 69-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Case Keenum. While McLaurin breezed past the goal line, Head Coach Jay Gruden gleamed on the sideline knowing he landed an explosive playmaker out the outside. Gruden has had only glowing things to say about McLaurin early on.

"We drafted him because he's fast and a heck of a wide out. We had hopes that he would be a full-time starter eventually," Gruden said. "Quality person, leader, two-time captain at Ohio State. Really a no brainer at that spot. If we were smart, we would have taken him in the first round. He's been awesome. You know a guy from that program, as smart as he is, a captain, those guys can handle day one starter because nothing is too big for them."

MOVING THE CHAINS

Terry McLaurin has been one of the most consistent receivers in the NFL so far this season. Among rookies he is second in the NFL in total first downs and he is first in receptions.

"We drafted him because he's fast and a heck of a wide out ... Quality person, leader, two-time captain at Ohio State. Really a no-brainer at that spot. If we were smart, we would have taken him in the first round. He's been awesome."

- Head Coach Jay Gruden on Terry McLaurin

McLaurin marred his open-weeking performance with another five receptions in Week 2 against the Dallas Cowboys. This time, McLaurin finished with 62 yards and his second touchdown snag of the season. Gruden isn't the only coach to praise McLaurin.

McLaurin continued trending upwards after posting six receptions for 70 yards and a touchdown against the Bears on Monday Night Football in Week 3. He became the first player in NFL history to record five-plus receptions and a touchdown reception in each of his first three games.

RYAN KERRIGAN

If patience is a virtue, the Redskins were virtuous in the first round of the 2011 NFL Draft, as the team opted to trade back from its No. 10 overall selection to the 16th overall pick. With the selection, the Redskins selected Kerrigan, the then-defensive end out of Purdue.

Kerrigan has started all 128 regular season games played by the Redskins since he entered the league in 2011, the longest active streak of consecutive starts by any NFL linebacker. In 2016, Kerrigan became the first member of the Redskins to start all 16 games in each of the first six seasons of an NFL career since the adoption of the 16-game schedule in 1978. In Week 4 of the 2017 season, Kerrigan became the first member of the Redskins since at least 1970 to open a career with 100 consecutive regular season starts.

The Muncie, Ind. native is only the fifth player in NFL history to open a career with at least 75 sacks in each of his first seven seasons, joining Jared Allen, Derrick Thomas, DeMarcus Ware and Reggie White. He also became only the fifth member of the Redskins to post multiple 10-sack seasons since 1982 (Dexter Manley, 4; Charles Mann, 4; Andre Carter, 2; Brian Drakpo, 2). He's also displayed aptitude with the ball in hands, as he has returned all three of his career interceptions for touchdowns, joining Julius Peppers and Pro Football Hall of Famer Jason Taylor as the only players in league history with 60+ sacks and three or more interception return touchdowns.

Kerrigan's impact on the Redskins has transcended football, as he was honored with the team's Walter Payton Man of the Year award in 2015. In addition to participating in numerous events through the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation, Kerrigan welcomed 185 guests to the Grand Hyatt Washington in 2015 for his third Celebrity Waiter Night, raising more than $100,000 for his Blitz for the Better Foundation, which provides support to seriously ill, special needs and physically challenged children throughout the Greater Washington D.C. area.

Kerrigan finished the 2018 season with 13 sacks, tied for the seventh best mark in the league. He passed Charles Mann for second on the Redskins all-time sack list after the team's Week 15 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars and became the third Redskin in franchise history to register 10-plus sacks in four or more seasons, joining Dexter Manley and Charles Mann.

The Washington Redskins kicked off the 2019 offseason by making a big addition to their defense. The team signed three-time Pro Bowler Landon Collins to a six-year deal to help bolster the secondary and provide a leader in the backend of the defense.

Collins comes to Washington after an impressive four seasons with the New York Giants. The hard hitting safety out of Alabama registered 428 total tackles (321 solo), four sacks for 39 total yards lost, eight interceptions, including a 44-yard interception returned for a touchdown, 32 passes defended, 10 quarterback hits, 22 tackles for loss, three forced fumbles and three fumble recoveries during his four seasons with New York.

In the four seasons that Collins has been in the league, no safety has compiled more total tackles or solo tackles in that time-frame and he is also top 10 among safeties in tackles for loss and passes defended during that span.

Collins' familiarity with the NFC East was also an intriguing part of bringing him to the nation's capital. In his four seasons with the Giants, Collins recorded 155 total tackles (112 solo), two sacks for 24 yards, two interceptions, 15 tackles for loss, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and seven passes defended against the NFC East. His 15 tackles for loss against divisional opponents is the most in the NFL from 2015-18 among safeties.

Collins will be part of a defense that features a lot of familiar pieces. This season he will be reunited with former Alabama teammates Jonathan Allen, Ryan Anderson and Shaun Dion-Hamilton. Collins will also be sharing the defensive backfield with his former teammate with the New York Giants, cornerback Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie. Collins and Rodgers-Cromartie both appeared in 45 games and started 31 games together with the Giants over the course of four seasons.

"You talk about a guy with leadership. We watched him for the last four years do what he does on the football field. We talked to a lot of people about him - one thing we found out and I know I did was that everything that people say about him was true. He has charisma, he has leadership, but most of all it's all about passion when it comes to football"

- Senior Vice President of Player Personnel Doug Williams

LONDON COLLINS

Collins hasn't wasted anytime making his impact felt on defense. The newly acquired free agent stepped right into a starting role and was voted as a captain. The fifth-year Alabama product has led the youthful secondary since stepping on the practice field in June. Through three games, Collins leads the Redskins in tackles with 27.

Head Coach Jay Gruden loves Collins' fit with the team, on and off the field. Additionally, Gruden has been impressed with his ability to break the mold of being a one-dimensional player.

"It's well documented that he's a good leader, fits right in with the defense, but on the field, it's the mentality that he brings. He's a tough, physical football player," Gruden said. "He's been labeled as a 'box safety'... but I don't think that label is necessarily true. We love him in the box making tackles, but he can get there and cover and make some plays all over the place."

In his first game wearing the Burgundy and Gold, Collins recorded seven tackles with six solo stops. His seven tackles against the Eagles were a career-high for the three-time Pro Bowler in a season opener. Collins has caused headaches for the Eagles since coming into the league. He has played nine games against Philadelphia and has posted at least seven tackles in all but two games. Collins' seven tackles for loss against the Eagles were also the most against any team.

Collins followed up his performance against Philly with 12 tackles and a tackle for loss against the Cowboys in Week 2. The 12 tackles are the second most of his career and ninth double-digit tackle outing of his career. To find Collins on the field, all you have to do is follow the ball and you'll see him fighting through blockers or making open field tackles. Defensive Coordinator Greg Manusky says Collins has a natural feel for where to be.

"I think more than anything, Landon's an instinctual guy. He knows exactly where things are going, he has a feel for the game which is outstanding," Manusky said.

"He's been labeled as a 'box safety' ... but I don't think that label is necessarily true. We love him in the box making tackles, but he can get there and cover and make some plays all over the place."

JOSH NORMAN

A SOLID ADDITION

When the Carolina Panthers rescinded cornerback Josh Norman's franchise tag and allowed the All-Pro defender to enter unrestricted free agency on April 20, 2016, roles instantly became reversed. The then-28-year-old lockdown corner became the subject of teams trying to lock down his services.

The Redskins mobilized quickly, dispatching members of the Redskins' coaching staff on April 22 to pick up Norman and his family from his Carolina home and bring them to team headquarters. The group arrived back in Ashburn early that afternoon, and after the full press and a family vote, Norman was a member of the Washington Redskins by 9:30 p.m.

"It was an exciting 24 hours there and we're happy as heck to get him," Head Coach Jay Gruden said. "I think he's one of the premier corners in the National Football League."

Norman joined the Redskins having previously appeared in 53 regular season games with 38 starts for Carolina, recording 178 tackles (136 solo), 36 passes defended, seven interceptions (two returned for touchdowns), four forced fumbles and three fumbles recovered from 2012-15.

In 2015, Norman started all 16 regular season games and all three postseason games for the Panthers, recording career highs in interceptions (four), forced fumbles (three) and fumbles recovered (two) in addition to tying for the league lead in interceptions returned for touchdowns (two). His highly decorated 2015 campaign resulted in a myriad of honors, including All-Pro selections from both the Associated Press and Pro Football Writers Association in addition to sharing PFWA Co-Most Improved Player of the Year honors with former teammate Kirk Cousins.

Since that breakout campaign in 2015, few defensive backs have been as disruptive as the man known colloquially as "J-No."

FORCING TURNOVERS IN 2018

CB Josh Norman was one of the Redskins biggest difference makers on defense this season. Norman finished the season with 40 tackles, three interceptions, nine passes defended, three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery.

Norman was one-of-four players in the NFL in 2018 to register three-plus interceptions and three-plus forced fumbles, joining Miami LB Kiko Alonso, Seattle CB Bradley McDougald and Arizona S DJ Swearingen, Sr.

Norman posted his fourth career season with 3-plus interceptions and his first since the 2016 campaign. Norman had an interception in Week 6 against Carolina, Week 10 at Tampa Bay and Week 13 at Philadelphia.

Of Norman's three interceptions, he returned two of them for 30-plus yards (32 yard return at Tampa Bay & 40 yard return at Philadelphia). He was one-of-four players in the league this season to post multiple games with 30+ yard interception returns, joining Tennessee CB Malcolm Butler, Los Angeles Chargers CB Desmond King II and Los Angeles Rams CB Marcus Peters.

Norman's accolades and productivity speak for themselves, but what kind of person were the Redskins getting? Gruden and the Redskins learned early in 2016.

"I've been very impressed with Josh from the day that he got here," Gruden said. "He works extremely hard. He's got a great energy every single time that he walks out onto the field, and he's the last one off the field. He's attentive at meetings - he's excellent."

Norman had his best performance of the 2018 season against his former team in Week 6. He finished the game with five tackles (four solo), an interception, one forced fumble and one pass defended. He was the first Redskin since Kendall Fuller (Week 3 of 2017) to record an interception and a forced fumble in a game.

In Week 13 against Philadelphia, Norman recorded his third interception of the season and is now one shy from tying his single season high.

Hopkins went 4-for-5 from 50-plus yards with his only miss coming on a 63-yard attempt against the Houston Texans in Week 11.

CLIMBING THE RECORD BOOK

The Redskins surprised many in Week 2 of the 2015 season when they elected to move on from kicker Kai Forbath, who exited as the franchise leader in field goal percentage among players with at least 50 attempts, in favor of signing kicker Dustin Hopkins.

After a solid debut in 2015, Hopkins went 34-for-42 on field goal attempts in 2016, breaking Mark Moseley's record (33 in 1983) for the most field goals in a single season in team history. In Week 3 that year, he tied a team record with five field goals in a 5-for-5 performance in a victory as part of an NFC Special Teams Player of the Week and Player of the Month performance.

MOST FIELD GOALS MADE (SINGLE SEASON, REDSKINS HISTORY):

Player	Season	FGM	FGA	FG Pct.	Pts.
1. Dustin Hopkins	2016	34	42	81.0	138
2. Mark Moseley	1983	33	47	70.2	161

Now in his fifth season with the Redskins, Hopkins already ranks third in franchise history in career field goals made.

MOST FIELD GOALS MADE (CAREER, REDSKINS HISTORY):

4. Curt Knight	1969-73	101	175	57.7
5. Shaun Suisham	2006-09	81	101	80.2

Beyond Hopkins' ability to boot the ball through the uprights, his ability to get it to stop and turn on a dime after 10 yards was vital to a Redskins' victory against Tampa Bay in Week 7 of the 2015 season. Hopkins delivered a perfect onside kick to start the second half of that game, ending a league-wide 0-for-24 skid on onside kick attempts to start the 2015 season. The onside kick helped jumpstart the Redskins en route to recording the largest comeback victory in franchise history.

It was only the fourth successful onside kick by the Redskins since 2000 and ended a streak of 18 unsuccessful onside kick attempts by the Redskins over the previous nine seasons.

SUCCESSFUL ONSIDE KICKS (REDSKINS SINCE 2000):

2003	5	4	Phi	John Hall

In the Redskins Week 6 matchup against Carolina, Head Coach Jay Gruden trusted Hopkins with a 56 yard attempt instead of attempting to pin the Panthers deep in their own territory. The risk paid off as Hopkins connected on the kick, marking a new career high and tying him with Chip Lohmiller for the third longest made field goal in franchise history.

TRESS WAY

PUNTER TRESS WAY

The Redskins spent the majority of the 2014 offseason evaluating a punting battle between newcomers Robert Malone and Blake Clingan, but the race received a darkhorse candidate when the team claimed Tress Way off waivers from Chicago on Aug. 20 that year. Way was given 10 days to stake a claim to the punting job.

Way accomplished the feat and has since posted historically-relevant numbers, earned the special teams captaincy in 2015 and been rewarded with a multi-year contract extension in 2016.

In 2014, Way's punting numbers rewarded the coaching staff's faith. Way averaged 47.5 yards per punt, the highest by a Redskins player since World War II. He finished the season averaging 47.5 yards per punt to rank fourth in team history, trailing only Sammy Baugh's full-season NFL record (51.4 yards per punt in 1940) and Baugh's 1941 and 1942 campaigns (48.7 and 48.2). Way became the first member of the Redskins to lead the NFL in punting for a season since Sam Baker in 1958 (45.4).

REDSKINS TO LEAD NFL IN PUNTING SINCE 1939:

Player	Season	Avg.
Tress Way	2014	47.5

Sammy Baugh	1943	45.9
Sammy Baugh	1942	48.2
Sammy Baugh	1941	48.7
Sammy Baugh	1940	51.4

Throughout his career, Way has waged his field position war by dropping punts inside the 20 with regularity. In the Redskins Week 7 matchup against Dallas, Way pinned a single game career-high five punts inside the 20-yard line and was a key factor in the team's, 20-17, victory at FedExField. Way broke his previous single season record of punts inside the 20 with his mark of 41 this season. His previous high was 33 punts pinned inside the 20-yard line in 2017.

Way pinned four punts inside the 20 yard line in Week 2 of the 2019 season against Dallas and in doing so passed Matt Turk (134) for the franchise record in punts inside the 20. Way currently has 137 total punts inside the 20 (since the statistic began being tracked in 1976).

PINNING THEM DEEP

Tress Way led the league in punts inside the 20-yard line in 2018 while simultaneously breaking his own single franchise record in the process. Way tallied 41 punts inside the 20-yard line. With 41-of-79 total punts placed inside the 20-yard line, 52 percent of Way's total punts were downed deep in the opponents territory.

Even more impressive than the league leading 41 punts inside the 20 was the fact that Way did not have a single touchback in 16 games. Among punters who appeared in all 16 games last season, none besides Way had zero touchbacks and only three had two or less.

JAY GRUDEN

HEAD COACH
16TH NFL SEASON // 6TH WITH REDSKINS

Jay Gruden enters his sixth season with the Washington Redskins in 2019 after being named the 29th head coach in franchise history on January 9, 2014.

Previously a decorated quarterback in the college and Arena Football League ranks and a successful NFL assistant, Gruden has showcased his offensive acumen honed from his diverse football background throughout his tenure with the Redskins.

In 2018, the Redskins won at least seven games for their fourth straight season and tied the last such streak that took place between a four-year span from 1999-2002. The team started out 6-3 and was 2-0 against the NFC East before losing starting quarterback Alex Smith to a season-ending leg injury. Following the injury to Smith, the team started three different quarterbacks to end the season. It was the first time in the Super Bowl Era that the Redskins started four or more different quarterbacks in a single season.

In 2017, the Redskins won at least seven games for their third straight season. Gruden's team reached seven wins despite dealing with substantial injury issues throughout the season, as 72 different players appeared in game action for the squad, the second-most used by the team in a single season since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger, trailing only the 108 used to complete the 1987 strike season.

Among the team's highlights in the 2017 season was the team's 4-0 record against NFC West opponents, the franchise's second full-division sweep since NFL realignment in 2002 and the team's first since 2005. The season also produced three Pro Bowlers, with linebacker Ryan Kerrigan, guard Brandon Scherff and tackle Trent Williams all earning return selections among the league's best.

A year earlier, Gruden guided the Redskins to an 8-7-1 record in 2016, giving the franchise back-to-back winning seasons for the first time since 1998-97. The team was led by Gruden's record-shattering offense, which posted team records in total net yards (6,545), net passing yards (4,758) and yards per play (6.40), ranking in the Top 3 in the NFL in all three categories.

Gruden's offense — once called "easily one of the three or four best designed offenses in the NFL" by Andy Benoit of The MMQB — was more than just historically efficient and explosive that season. The distribution of the offensive contributions allowed eight Redskins players (DeSean Jackson, Pierre Garçon, Jamison Crowder, Rob Kelley, Chris Thompson, Jordan Reed, Vernon Davis and Matt Jones) to finish the season with at least 500 yards from scrimmage, tying the 2011 New Orleans Saints for the most in a single season in NFL history.

In 2015, Gruden led the Redskins to an NFC East Championship, posting a 9-7 record to complete the second "worst-to-first" turnaround in team history. Gruden became the sixth coach in team history to lead the Redskins to a playoff berth within the first two years at the helm, joining Ray Flaherty, Dutch Bergman, Dudley DeGroot, George Allen and Joe Gibbs.

Under Gruden's guidance, the 2015 Redskins featured what was at the time the most prolific passing attack in franchise history. Quarterback Kirk Cousins, named the starter in the middle of the preseason, set then-single-season team records for attempts (543), completions (379), passing yards (4,166) and 300-yard passing games (seven) while throwing 29 touchdown passes, including at least one in all 16 games. Cousins' success coincided with the emergence of tight end Jordan Reed, who finished the season with 87 receptions for 952 yards (both team records for a tight end) with 11 receiving touchdowns.

Gruden assumed control of the Redskins in 2014 and guided the team through a campaign in which three different quarterbacks (Robert Griffin III, Kirk Cousins and Colt McCoy) recorded victories as starters. He installed an offensive system that produced two Pro Bowlers in his first season (tackle Trent Williams and running back Alfred Morris).

Excluding interim coaches, Gruden, 46 at the time of his hiring, became the team's youngest head coaching hire since hiring eventual Pro Football Hall of Famer Joe Gibbs at 40 years of age in 1981. He became the first Redskins head coach hired directly from an offensive coordinator role on another team since Norv Turner in 1994.

Before joining the Redskins, Gruden spent his previous three seasons as offensive coordinator for the Cincinnati Bengals. In his tenure in Cincinnati, the Bengals averaged 10 wins a season, making three consecutive playoff appearances and earning an AFC North championship in 2013. Members of the Bengals' offense accounted for seven Pro Bowl selections in his three seasons in Cincinnati.

Gruden was tasked with the development of quarterback Andy Dalton, a 2011 second-round pick. In three seasons together, Gruden helped Dalton to a 30-18 regular season record as a starter (.625), as Dalton's 30 wins in that time frame ranked tied for fifth-most among NFL quarterbacks. Dalton's 80 passing touchdowns ranked third-most in NFL history for a quarterback in his first three seasons, trailing only Dan Marino (98) and Peyton Manning (85).

Prior to joining the Bengals, Gruden served two years with the Florida Tuskers of the United Football League from 2009-10. In 2009, Gruden served as offensive coordinator as the Tuskers compiled a 6-0 regular season record and earned a UFL championship game berth. In 2010, he assumed the roles of head coach and general manager and led the Tuskers to their second consecutive championship game appearance.

Gruden coached for seven seasons (2002-08) with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, earning a Super Bowl championship ring as an offensive assistant in 2002. There he worked under his brother, Jon (then the Bucs' head coach), and current Redskins President Bruce Allen (the Bucs' general manager from 2004-08). Gruden helped guide the Buccaneers to the team's first championship, a 48-21 victory in Super Bowl XXXVII.

Gruden also ranks among the most outstanding players and coaches in the history of the Arena Football League, having won six combined league championships — four as a quarterback and two as a head coach. Gruden played quarterback (2002-03) and served as head coach (2004-08) of the AFL's Orlando Predators while simultaneously working as an offensive assistant with the Buccaneers. In all, Gruden served as head coach of the Predators for nine seasons (1998-2001 and 2004-08), leading the Predators to four championship game appearances and two league titles as a coach. During a two-year hiatus from coaching the Predators in 2002-03, he returned to the playing field as Orlando's quarterback, leading the Predators to playoff appearances in both seasons.

In his eight seasons as a player in the AFL, Gruden completed 1,673-of-2,775 passes (60.3 percent) for 21,578 yards with 398 touchdowns and 99 interceptions. In addition to his time with Orlando, he spent six seasons (1991-96) at quarterback for the Tampa Bay Storm, winning four AFL titles and being named MVP of ArenaBowl VII in 1993. He was also named the 1992 AFL Most Valuable Player and was honored with induction into the AFL Hall of Fame in 1999.

Gruden played quarterback for four seasons for former Redskins draft pick Howard Schnellenberger at the University of Louisville (1985-88) and was a two-time team MVP.

Gruden was born March 4, 1967, in Tiffin, Ohio. He and his wife, Sherry, have three sons — J.J., Joey and Jack — and a grandson, Trey.

Bill Callahan enters his fifth season with the Redskins in 2019 after initially joining the organization as the team's offensive line coach on January 15, 2015. The team added Assistant Head Coach to his title prior to the 2017 season.

Callahan is entering his 21st NFL season in 2019 as part of a career that includes head coaching stints at both the pro and collegiate levels as well as the 2002 AFC Championship with the Oakland Raiders. Entering 2019, Callahan has been a member of an offensive staff that finished in the Top 5 in the NFL in rushing or passing 11 times, including a No. 1 overall finish in rushing twice (2000, 2009) and passing once (2002). Callahan has had 12 offensive linemen combine for 28 Pro Bowl selections during his career and has guided his units in 19 career postseason contests at the NFL level.

In 2018, Callahan was instrumental in guiding a unit that played its best football late in games despite losing four-of-five Week 1 starters for extended periods of time during the season. The Redskins finished the season second in the NFL in average yards per carry in the fourth quarter with a mark of 4.95. The team also finished fifth in the league in fourth quarter rushing yards and average rushing yards in the fourth quarter with 554 yards and a 34.6 average, respectively. The offensive line play also aided running back Adrian Peterson in becoming the first Redskins running back to rush for 1,000-plus yards in a single season since 2014. Tackle Trent Williams was also selected to his fourth-consecutive Pro Bowl. Williams has been a Pro Bowler in each of the four seasons that he has played under Callahan.

In 2017, Callahan's tutelage was paramount in helping the offense overcome a season-long rash of injuries and still average nearly 325 yards per game. The Redskins used a total of 36 unique groups of offensive linemen (including seven different combinations of six-lineman groupings), as well as eight different starting lineups along the offensive line. In total, Callahan coached 28 different offensive linemen during the 2017 calendar year, including players on the offseason roster and on the practice squad. Among the newcomers Callahan developed were rookies Chase Roullier and Tyler Catalina, the former of whom blossomed from a sixth-round pick into a seven-game starter at center and the latter of whom performed at multiple positions after making the team as a college free agent.

Members of Callahan's 2017 unit were once again honored for their excellence, as guard Brandon Scherff earned his second Pro Bowl selection and tackle Trent Williams earned his sixth consecutive Pro Bowl nod despite battling a year-long knee injury. Together, Scherff and Williams became the first Redskins offensive line duo collectively named to the Pro Bowl in consecutive seasons since the duo of Russ Grimm and Joe Jacoby earned four straight selections following the 1983-86 seasons.

In the team's first two seasons under Callahan from 2015-16, the Redskins allowed 50 total sacks after allowing 58 sacks in the 2014 season alone. In 2016, powered in part by Callahan's offensive line, the Redskins set single-season team records in yards per game (403.4), yards per play (6.40), net passing yards (4,758), completions (407), passing first downs (226) and 500-yard games (three). The blocking and protection afforded by the unit allowed eight different Redskins players to finish the season with at least 500 yards from scrimmage, tying the 2011 New Orleans Saints for the most in a single season in NFL history.

The Redskins allowed 23 sacks in 2016, fourth-fewest in the NFL and tied for the seventh-fewest in team history since the league adopted sacks as an official statistic in 1982. The 2016 season also resulted in the fifth consecutive Pro Bowl selection for tackle Trent Williams and the first career Pro Bowl nod for guard Brandon Scherff. The dual selections marked the first time the Redskins had multiple offensive linemen selected to the Pro Bowl in the same season since 1991 (tackle Jim Lachey and guard Mark Schlereth).

In his first year in Washington in the team's NFC East title-winning campaign in 2015, Callahan was frequently credited for the largest year-over-year decline in sacks allowed in team history. A year after allowing 58 sacks in 2014, the Redskins held opponents to 27 sacks in Callahan's first year in 2015. The 31-sack turnaround was the largest in team history since the NFL began recognizing sacks as an official statistic in 1982, surpassing the 30-sack decrease between the 1998-99 seasons. The performance of the line as a unit helped garner Pro Bowl honors for Williams and PFWA All-Rookie honors for Scherff.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Callahan served as offensive coordinator/offensive line coach for the Dallas Cowboys from 2012-14 and helped guide the franchise to its first NFC East title since 2009 in his final season. In 2014, the Cowboys finished second in the NFL in rushing (147.1) with running back DeMarco Murray leading the league in rushing and setting a Dallas franchise record with 1,845 yards. Callahan had two offensive linemen named to The Associated Press' 2014 All-Pro team (tackle Tyron Smith and guard Zack Martin) and had another (center Travis Frederick) selected with Smith and Martin to the Pro Bowl.

Callahan served as assistant head coach/offensive line coach of the New York Jets from 2008-11. During his four-year tenure with the Jets, the offense ranked second in the NFL in rushing yards per game (137.9) across those four seasons and appeared in two consecutive AFC Championship games (2009-10). In his four seasons, Callahan coached three offensive linemen to nine Pro Bowl appearances (Nick Mangold, 4; D'Brickshaw Ferguson, 3; and Alan Faneca, 2) and helped Mangold earn AP All-Pro honors in the 2009-10 seasons.

Prior to his time in New York, Callahan served as head coach at the University of Nebraska from 2004-07, leading the Cornhuskers to a Big 12 Conference Championship Game appearance in 2006 and two bowl invitations in his four seasons.

Callahan spent six seasons with the Oakland Raiders from 1998-2003, serving as offensive coordinator for four years before becoming the 13th head coach in Raiders history from 2001-02. In 2002, Oakland's offense set a team record for total offense with an NFL-best 6,237 yards and led the NFL in passing yards (4,689) en route to an appearance in Super Bowl XXXVII. He became the fourth rookie head coach in NFL history to earn a Super Bowl berth.

Before joining the Raiders, Callahan coached the offensive line for the Philadelphia Eagles from 1995-97. His unit helped the Eagles rank second in the NFC in passing, fifth in rushing and third in total offense in 1997. Prior to joining the Eagles, Callahan accrued 15 seasons of coaching experience in various capacities at Illinois (1980-86), Northern Arizona (1987-88), Southern Illinois (1989) and Wisconsin (1990-94).

Callahan started at quarterback for three seasons (1975-77) at Illinois Benedictine (Iisle, Ill.) where he earned honorable-mention All-America honors in 1976 and 1977 and graduated with a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1978. In 2004, he was inducted into the Benedictine University Athletics Hall of Fame.

Callahan was born in Chicago, where he attended Mendel Catholic H.S. He and his wife, Valerie, have four children: daughters Cathryn and Jaclyn, and sons Brian and Daniel. His son, Brian, now serves as the offensive coordinator for the Cincinnati Bengals.

Nate Kaczor (pronounced Kat-sir) enters his first season as special teams coordinator with the Washington Redskins in 2019. He will be entering his 12th NFL season and has held positions with the Jacksonville Jaguars, Tennessee Titans and Tampa Bay Buccaneers during his NFL career.

During Kaczor's three seasons with Tampa Bay, the Buccaneers were one of the top punt coverage units in the NFL, allowing only 6.6 yards per return, the fourth-lowest mark in the league during that span.

In 2018, Tampa Bay allowed only 21.0 yards per kickoff return, which was the sixth-lowest in the NFL despite allowing 30-plus total kickoff returns.

In 2017, the Buccaneers had three blocked kicks (one blocked field goals and two blocked extra points), tied for the third-most in the NFL. Tampa Bay led the league in special teams takeaways, with four (three fumble recoveries on punt coverage, one on kickoff coverage). All four of Tampa Bay's special teams takeaways helped lead to touchdowns - two were returned for touchdowns, while the other two set up the offense with a short field. The Buccaneers' punt return unit also averaged 9.6 yards per return, the sixth-highest mark in the NFL.

Punter Bryan Anger was a standout during Kaczor's tenure with the Buccaneers. In his first year with the team, Anger set Buccaneers records for both punts inside the 20 (37) and net punting average (42.7), with both of those ranking in the top five in the NFL in 2016. In the three seasons that Anger spent under Kaczor's tutelage, Anger ranked top 15 in the league in punts inside the 20 and net average while only recording 14 touchbacks.

Kaczor came to Tampa Bay having spent the previous four seasons with the Tennessee Titans, the final three as the teams' special teams coordinator (2013-15) after being hired as the assistant offensive line coach in his first season (2012). In 2015, the Titans tied for the NFL lead in special teams takeaways, while in 2013 Kaczor's unit ranked in third in the league in opponent punt return average and eighth in kickoff return average.

In three seasons under Kaczor, Titans punter Brett Kern tied for the third-most punts inside the 20 (94) in the NFL. In 2015, despite punting 88 times, Kern saw only one touchback on the year. In 2014, Kern posted a net average of 40.8, a career best and a Titans franchise record. Kaczor also worked with kicker Ryan Succop, who set a career high in field goal percentage in 2015 (87.5), surpassing the career best he had established the season before.

Kaczor entered the NFL as an assistant special teams coach with the Jacksonville Jaguars, working there from 2008-11. During those four years, Jacksonville had one of the league's top special teams coverage units, allowing the lowest punt return average in the NFL (6.5 avg.) and the eighth-lowest kickoff return average (21.8 avg.). In each of Kaczor's final two seasons, Montell Owens earned Pro Bowl recognition as a special teams player.

Prior to joining the NFL, Kaczor spent 17 years coaching in college, the final two working as co-offensive coordinator (2007) and tight ends coach (2006) at Louisiana-Monroe. In his only season as co-offensive coordinator, the team ranked second in the Sun Belt Conference in rushing offense and averaged its most points scored since 1993. Before his time at Louisiana-Monroe, Kaczor spent two seasons (2004-05) as the co-offensive coordinator/tight ends coach at Idaho and four seasons as offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at Nebraska-Kearney (2000-03). Kaczor began his coaching career as an offensive assistant at his alma mater, Utah State, working as an offensive assistant for nine seasons (1991-99), helping the team win three conference championships.

A center at Utah State, Kaczor was a team captain, who earned all-conference honors in 1989. A native of Scott City, Kansas, he and his wife, Angie, have two children, Kaylee and Micah.

2017-Pres.	Defensive Coordinator	Washington Redskins

Greg Manusky is entering his eighth combined season as a player or coach with the Redskins in 2019 after returning to the organization as the team's outside linebackers coach on January 22, 2018. He was named the team's defensive coordinator on January 23, 2017.

Manusky returned to the Redskins in 2016 with 27 previous combined seasons of NFL experience, including 15 as a coach and 12 as a player. He entered the coaching ranks full-time with the Redskins in 2001 as the team's linebackers coach. During his 18 seasons as an NFL coach entering 2018, 12 different players have earned a total of 20 Pro Bowl selections under his tutelage.

In 2018, Manusky's unit was tied for 10th in the league in total turnovers. The team's 18 forced fumbles were tied with the Buffalo Bills for the fourth most in the NFL and their 15 interceptions were tied for the ninth best mark in the league. The unit was also one of the best at pressuring opposing quarterbacks in 2018 and finished the season seventh in the NFL in sacks. The team was led by linebacker Ryan Kerrigan who finished the season with 13 sacks which was tied for the seventh most in the league. The 13 sacks was the second-most in a single season in Kerrigan's career and earned him his third-consecutive Pro Bowl selection. Kerrigan has been named a Pro Bowler in all three seasons that Manusky has been on the defensive staff.

In his first season as Washington's defensive coordinator in 2017, Manusky's defense produced the team's strongest season against the pass in nearly a decade. The unit ranked third in the NFL in completion percentage allowed (57.6 percent), the team's best ranking since leading the NFL in the category in 2005 (54.4), while finishing ninth in passing yards allowed per game (213.8, the team's lowest since 2009) and 10th in opponent passer rating (81.0, lowest since 2008). The group also posted 42 sacks, the franchise's most since 2000, led by linebacker Ryan Kerrigan, who earned his third Pro Bowl selection after leading Washington with 13.0 sacks.

The list of key contributors to the unit's performance under Manusky in 2017 spanned all positions and experience levels. Unrestricted free agent addition Zach Brown led the NFL in tackles through 15 weeks before missing the final three games of the season. Fellow free agent signing D.J. Swearinger earned immediate captaincy status before ever playing a snap for Washington and recorded a career-high four interceptions, tying for the team lead with cornerback Kendall Fuller, who emerged as one of the league's top slot corners in his second NFL season. Second-year defensive lineman Matt Ioannidis made a similar second-year jump, posting 4.5 sacks, while first-round pick Jonathan Allen was impressive despite being limited by injury to only five contests.

As outside linebackers coach in 2016, Manusky helped guide linebacker Ryan Kerrigan to his second career Pro Bowl selection. Kerrigan posted 11.0 sacks, becoming only the fifth player in team history to record multiple 10-sack seasons. Manusky's contributions were also key to linebacker Trent Murphy's breakout campaign in 2016, a year in which the third-year pro recorded 9.0 sacks after totaling 6.0 across his first two NFL seasons in 2014-15. Manusky's duo became the first pair to record at least nine sacks each in a single season for the Redskins since Andre Carter and Brian Orakpo in 2009.

Prior to his second coaching stint in Washington, Manusky served nine seasons as the defensive coordinator of the Indianapolis Colts (2012-15), San Diego Chargers (2011) and San Francisco 49ers (2007-10). The Colts won at least eight games in all four of Manusky's seasons in Indianapolis, earning three postseason berths including an AFC Championship appearance in 2014. The Colts recorded 10 interception returns for touchdowns during Manusky's four-year tenure, tied for second-most in the AFC and tied for fifth-most in the NFL in that time frame.

In 2014, Manusky guided a defense that helped record the team's third straight 11-5 regular season record and second consecutive AFC South Division Championship. From Weeks 4 through 7, the Colts only allowed one third down conversion in four straight games, marking the longest such streak by an NFL team since 1970. Safety Mike Adams, cornerback Vontae Davis and inside linebacker D'Owll Jackson comprised the three defensive players to earn their first career Pro Bowl selection during the year.

Manusky spent the 2011 campaign as the defensive coordinator of the San Diego Chargers. Under his direction, the defense allowed an average of 224.4 net passing yards per game, and safety Eric Weddle tied for the NFL lead with seven interceptions and earned a trip to the 2012 Pro Bowl. Prior to joining the Chargers, Manusky spent four seasons (2007-10) as defensive coordinator of the San Francisco 49ers. His 2009 unit did not allow a touchdown in five separate games while forcing an NFL-best 21 fumbles, allowing just 3.6 yards per rush and recording 44.0 sacks.

Manusky's first tenure with the Chargers lasted four seasons (2002-06), during which time he served as the linebackers coach. In the 2006 campaign, San Diego linebackers accounted for 42.5 of the team's 61.0 regular season sacks. That season, linebacker Shawne Merriman tied the Chargers' franchise record with 17.0 sacks, becoming the first Charger to lead the league in sacks.

Manusky started his coaching career in 2000, working as a volunteer linebackers and special teams coach with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers during training camp. He then joined the Redskins staff in 2001 as the team's linebackers coach, helping guide LaVar Arrington to his first career Pro Bowl selection.

Throughout his career, Manusky has coached an impressive list of Pro Bowl players, including D'Owll Jackson, Vontae Davis, Mike Adams and Robert Mathis with the Colts; Eric Weddle, Shawne Merriman, Junior Seau and Donnie Edwards with the Chargers; Justin Smith and Patrick Willis with the 49ers and LaVar Arrington with the Redskins.

Manusky was a linebacker and special teams standout during his 12-year NFL playing career in Washington, Minnesota and Kansas City, recording a stretch in which he participated in 113 consecutive games. Manusky earned All-Madden Team honors in 1991 and retired from the NFL in 2000.

A native of Wyoming, Pa., Manusky attended Dallas (Pa.) H.S. before moving on to Colgate University, where he was a four-year letterman and an All-Colonial League selection. As a senior in 1987, Manusky was named the Colonial League's Defensive Player of the Year. He graduated with degrees in education and geology.

Manusky and his wife, Laurie, have two sons, Colton and Jake, and two daughters, Logan and Chandler. Logan is a collegiate volleyball player at College of Charleston.

2018	Passing Game Coord.	Washington Redskins
2019	Offensive Coordinator	Washington Redskins

Kevin O'Connell enters his third season with the Redskins and his first season in the role of offensive coordinator. He was the passing game coordinator and guided the quarterbacks in 2018 after joining the team on January 23, 2017. O'Connell's first position with Washington was in the role of quarterbacks coach in the 2017 season.

In 2018, O'Connell spent his first season as the team's passing game coordinator. He spent time working with five different quarterbacks throughout the season and was a major factor in preparing the four different starting quarterbacks that the team utilized which was a first in franchise history in the Super Bowl Era.

O'Connell's input in the offensive gameplan and play calling was on display in 2018 as the Redskins offense registered 30 10-plus play drives in 2018, which was tied for the ninth best mark in the NFL.

O'Connell played a key role in Alex Smith's first season in the Washington offense. Prior to his season-ending injury, Smith was 205-for-328 with 2,180 passing yards and 10 touchdowns and had the team at a 6-3 mark and a 2-0 mark in the NFC East. He was also instrumental in implementing aspects of the run-pass option into the Redskins 2018 offense. Through Week 11, Smith ranked No. 10 among quarterbacks in rushing yards with 168 yards on 41 attempts. The Redskins were also ranked No. 7 in the NFL in 3rd-and-1 conversions with a 75 percent conversion rate. Smith also ranked No. 4 in the NFL in interception percentage from Week 1 to Week 11 with a mark of 1.5 percent and a total of five interceptions thrown on 328 attempts.

From Week 12 to Week 17 of the 2018 season, O'Connell worked with three different starting quarterbacks. Colt McCoy appeared in three games with two starts and was 34-for-54 with 372 passing yards and three touchdowns. McCoy also rushed for 6.3 yards per attempt in the three games that he appeared in. After McCoy suffered a season-ending injury in Week 13, Mark Sanchez appeared in two games with one start before being relieved by Josh Johnson.

O'Connell played a key role in installing a package of plays to fit Johnson's playing style and comfort within Jay Gruden's offense and was a big factor in Johnson's late season success. Johnson finished the season 52-for-91 with 590 yards and three touchdowns and also rushed for 120 yards on 23 attempts. Johnson started his first career game in Week 15 against the Jacksonville Jaguars and earned his first ever win as a starting quarterback in his 10th professional season. He also posted a single game career high passer rating of 104.9 against the New York Giants in Week 14 and posted his second best single game passer rating against the Jacksonville Jaguars in Week 15 with a 93.9 mark. The running aspect of the offense was also on display as Johnson became the first Redskins quarterback since Kirk Cousins in 2017 to rush and throw for a touchdown in a single game.

In his first season in Washington in 2017, O'Connell helped quarterback Kirk Cousins complete 347-of-540 passes [64.3 percent] for 4,093 yards with 27 touchdowns and 13 interceptions for a passer rating of 93.9. Under O'Connell's guidance, Cousins recorded the fifth 4,000-yard passing season in team history and became the first player in team history and only the 11th player in NFL history to record a streak of at least three consecutive 4,000-yard passing seasons, joining Drew Brees, Peyton Manning, Matt Ryan, Matthew Stafford, Tom Brady, Philip Rivers, Dan Fouts, Trent Green, Eli Manning and Dan Marino.

O'Connell joined the Redskins after spending the 2016 season overseeing special projects for the San Francisco 49ers. A year earlier in 2015, O'Connell served as quarterbacks coach for the Cleveland Browns. There he worked with Josh McCown, who became the first player in Browns franchise history to throw for 300-or-more yards in three consecutive games, as he eclipsed the mark in each game from Week 3 to Week 5 that season. Under O'Connell, McCown also set a career high and Browns single-game record with 457 passing yards at Baltimore.

Originally a third-round pick (94th overall) by the New England Patriots in the 2008 NFL Draft, O'Connell spent time with the Patriots, Lions, Jets, Dolphins and Chargers during his five-year playing career (2008-12).

A four-year team captain at San Diego State (2004-07), O'Connell appeared in 40 games and finished his collegiate career ranked third in school history in completions (864), fourth in passing yards (7,689) and fifth in passing touchdowns (46). He also finished his career holding school records for career rushing yards by a quarterback (1,312), career rushing touchdowns by a quarterback (19) and single-season rushing touchdowns by a quarterback (11). In 2007, O'Connell became the first player in San Diego State history to lead the team in both passing (3,063) and rushing yards (408) in the same season. He earned his bachelor's degree in political science in 2007.

Born in Knoxville, Tenn., O'Connell attended La Costa Canyon H.S. in Carlsbad, Calif. He and his wife, Leah, have two sons, Kaden and Kolten, and a daughter, Quinn.

Matt Cavanaugh enters his fifth season with the Redskins and his first as the team's senior offensive assistant in 2019 after spending the last two seasons as the team's offensive coordinator.

Cavanaugh boasts 26 seasons of previous coaching experience across the professional and collegiate levels. His NFL background also includes 14 combined seasons as a quarterback for the New England Patriots, San Francisco 49ers, Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants from 1978-91.

Under Cavanaugh's guidance, Redskins quarterback Kirk Cousins posted the first stretch of three consecutive 4,000-yard seasons in team history in 2015-17 and became the first quarterback in NFL history to record at least 4,000 passing yards and four rushing touchdowns in three consecutive seasons.

In 2018, Cavanaugh played a big factor in the implementation and execution of the offensive gameplan. Along with Head Coach Jay Gruden and Passing Game Coordinator Kevin O'Connell, Cavanaugh played a big role in preparing the four different starting quarterbacks that the Redskins used throughout the course of the season. In 2018 the Redskins offense was No. 11 in the NFL in 3rd-and-short conversions and was No. 7 in the league in 3rd-and-1 conversions. The team also ranked in the top 10 in the league in 10-plus play drives despite suffering a myriad of injuries on the offensive line and at the quarterback position.

In his first season as Washington's offensive coordinator in 2017, Cavanaugh helped the offense average nearly 325 yards per game despite enduring a rash of injuries that significantly impacted the offensive line and a number of key playmakers. The Redskins used 32 different players on offense, including eight different running backs (tied with Arizona for the most in the NFL) and 36 unique groups of offensive linemen (including seven different combinations of six-lineman groupings). The game plans and play-calling scripts devised by Cavanaugh and the coaching staff helped the Redskins score points on their opening possession nine times in 2017, the most opening-drive scores by the Redskins in a single season in records dating back to 1999.

In 2016, Cavanaugh's tutelage of Cousins was critical to a record-setting season for both the team as a whole and for the then-fifth-year quarterback. The Redskins set single-season team records in yards per game (403.4), yards per play (6.40), net passing yards (4,758), completions (407), passing first downs (226) and 500-yard games (three). Meanwhile, Cousins finished the year with single-season team records in attempts (606), completions (406) and passing yards (4,917) and matched his team record for 300-yard passing games (seven). Cousins' 4,917 passing yards ranked third in the NFL in 2016 and were the 15th-most in a season in NFL history.

Cavanaugh made an immediate impact in his first season in Washington in 2015, helping guide Cousins to single-season team records in attempts (543), completions (379), passing yards (4,166) and 300-yard passing games (seven) despite not being named the starter until midway through the preseason. Cavanaugh's coaching helped Cousins post an interception percentage of 2.0, the second-lowest by a Redskins quarterback with at least 400 attempts in a season all-time. After the season, quarterback Colt McCoy called Cavanaugh the team's "MVP" for his work with Cousins in 2015.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Cavanaugh served as quarterbacks coach of the Chicago Bears from 2013-14. In 2013, under Cavanaugh's tutelage, the Bears' quarterbacks rewrote the franchise single-season record books setting team records in passer rating (96.9), passing yards (4,450), passing touchdowns (32) and completion percentage (64.4). It was his second stint in Chicago after having served as the team's offensive coordinator from 1997-98.

Cavanaugh spent four seasons working with quarterbacks for the New York Jets from 2009-12. During those four seasons, the Jets made two AFC Championship game appearances.

Cavanaugh joined the Jets after four seasons as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at his alma mater, the University of Pittsburgh, from 2005-08. It was his second stint at Pitt after making his coaching debut in 1993 working with the Panthers' tight ends. As offensive coordinator, Cavanaugh helped tutor future NFL running backs LeSean McCoy and LaRod Stephens-Howling.

Cavanaugh served as the Baltimore Ravens' offensive coordinator from 1999-2004, a tenure that included the franchise's 34-7 Super Bowl XXXV victory in 2000. During that season, the Ravens ground game churned out a franchise-record 2,199 yards, fifth most in the NFL.

Prior to his first tenure in Chicago from 1997-98, Cavanaugh served as quarterbacks coach for the San Francisco 49ers in 1996, helping Steve Young lead the NFL in passer rating (97.2) and completion percentage (67.7). He got his first taste of NFL coaching in 1994, working as the quarterbacks coach of the Arizona Cardinals, a position he held for two years.

Cavanaugh won two Super Bowl titles as a backup quarterback with the New York Giants (Super Bowl XXV) and the 49ers (Super Bowl XIX). He was a second-round selection (50th overall) of the Patriots in 1978 NFL Draft, spending five seasons with New England (1978-82) before stints with the 49ers (1983-85), Eagles (1986-89) and Giants (1990-91). He appeared in 112 career contests with 19 starts, completing 305-of-579 passes for 4,332 yards and 28 touchdowns.

As a collegiate quarterback, Cavanaugh guided Pitt to the 1976 National Championship and was named the Sugar Bowl MVP after a 27-3 victory over Georgia. He earned All-America honors as a senior in 1977. Cavanaugh earned his bachelor's degree from Pitt in administration of justice.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Cavanaugh attended Chaney H.S. He is married to his wife, Maria, and has three children: Amy, Andrew and Mollie.

2016-18	Tight Ends Coach	Green Bay Packers
2019	Tight Ends Coach	Washington Redskins

Entering his 25th year in the coaching profession and his eighth in the NFL, Brian Angelichio enters his first year with the Washington Redskins in 2019 as the team's tight ends coach.

Under Angelichio's guidance in 2018, Packers tight end Jimmy Graham finished the season with 55 receptions for 636 yards, which were both the ninth highest marks among tight ends in the league. Graham and Packers rookie tight end Robert Tonyan were both tied with New York Giants tight end Evan Engram for the eighth longest reception among tight ends in 2018, each hauling in 54-yard receptions. Tonyan's 54-yard reception was the third highest by a rookie tight end in the league last season.

In 2017, Angelichio's tight-end group helped the Packers rank No. 5 in the NFL in rushing yards per carry (4.47 avg.). In two seasons with the Packers, his tight ends have helped the offense rank No. 4 in the league over that span with an average of 4.51 yards per carry.

In his first season with the Packers, Angelichio (an-juhLEEK-o) guided a group that helped the team finish No. 4 in the NFL in points per game (27.0). After missing six games due to an ankle injury, free agent Jared Cook returned in Week 11 and recorded 24 receptions for 324 yards (13.5 avg.) and a TD in the final six regular-season games, with 17 of those catches going for first downs. His receiving yardage total in Weeks 11-17 ranked No. 8 among NFL tight ends, and his four catches of 25-plus yards were tied for No. 3 over that span. In the playoffs, Cook was tied for the team lead with 18 receptions for 229 yards (12.7 avg.) and two TDs. His reception and receiving-yardage totals were the best by a Green Bay TE in a single postseason, topping the previous highs posted by TE Keith Jackson in 1995 (12 catches for 223 yards).

In 2015 with the Browns, Angelichio helped develop veteran Gary Barnidge, who had registered 44 catches for 603 yards (13.7 avg.) and three TDs in his first seven seasons in the league. Under Angelichio's direction in 2015, Barnidge posted career highs in every category, hauling in 79 catches for 1,043 yards (13.2 avg.) and nine TDs. Barnidge tied Ozzie Newsome (1979) for the most TD catches by a TE in Browns history, and his yardage total ranked No. 2 by a TE in team annals behind only Kellen Winslow (1,106 in 2007). Among NFL tight ends, Barnidge ranked third in the league in 2015 in receptions and yards per catch, and fourth in yards and TD catches on his way to becoming just the fifth TE in franchise history to be selected to the Pro Bowl.

Under Angelichio's guidance in 2014, Cleveland's tight end group combined for 54 receptions for 822 yards (15.2 avg.) and three TDs, and helped open up the run game as the Browns finished fourth in the NFL in rushing TDs with 17. Jordan Cameron led all NFL tight ends with an average of 17.7 yards per reception (min. 20 rec.) and recorded the longest play by an NFL tight end since 2009, posting an 81-yard TD catch at Carolina on Dec. 21.

Angelichio began his NFL career with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, where he spent two seasons (2012-13) coaching tight ends. In 2013, he tutored Tim Wright, who set franchise rookie records for the most receptions (54), receiving yards (571) and receiving TDs (five) by a tight end. His yardage total was tied for the most by an undrafted rookie tight end in NFL history.

Prior to Tampa Bay, Angelichio coached the tight ends at Rutgers (2011), where he worked with D.C. Jefferson, who was selected by Arizona in the seventh round of the 2013 NFL Draft and appeared in four games for the Cardinals that season.

Angelichio spent five seasons at the University of Pittsburgh, serving as offensive assistant/tight ends coach for one season (2006) and tight ends coach for four seasons (2007-10). He coached future NFL draft choices Dorin Dickerson (Houston Texans, seventh round, 2010), a first team All-American and John Mackey Award finalist, and Nate Byham (49ers, sixth round, 2010), as well as Darrell Strong, who went on to play for the Oakland Raiders. Angelichio also served as the offensive coordinator during the Panthers' 27-10 victory in the 2011 BBVA Compass Bowl against Kentucky.

Angelichio started his coaching career in 1995 as the secondary coach at SUNY-Brockport and then spent 10 seasons at Ithaca College, where he coached linebackers (1996-97), receivers (1998) and the offensive line (1999) before serving as offensive coordinator/offensive line coach (2000-05). While with the Bombers, Angelichio tutored seven All-Americans, helping the team advance to the postseason in seven of his 10 years. While in charge of the offense, he led a unit that set or tied 30 team or individual records over his final five seasons.

Angelichio was a three-year starter at outside linebacker (1992-95) at St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y., where he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education. He was also team captain and a four-year starter on the baseball team. He received a master's degree from Ithaca College. Born December 27, 1972, in Iliion, N.Y., Angelichio attended Iliion High School, where he lettered all four years in baseball and three years each in basketball and football. As a quarterback and safety, he was part of a team that went undefeated and ranked third in the state as a senior.

2013-14	Defensive Quality Control	San Diego Chargers
2015-16	Defensive Quality Control	Washington Redskins
2017-Pres.	Outside Linebackers Coach	Washington Redskins

Chad Grimm enters his fifth season with the Redskins and his third as the team's outside linebackers coach in 2019 after initially joining the team in a defensive quality control role on January 29, 2015.

In 2018, Grimm continued his work with Redskins Pro Bowl linebacker Ryan Kerrigan. Kerrigan finished the season with 13 sacks for 96.5 yards, 11 tackles for loss and three forced fumbles. Kerrigan finished tied for seventh in the league in overall sacks and finished with the second-most sacks in a single season in his career, tying his 13 sack effort in 2017. Kerrigan has posted 12-plus sacks in back-to-back seasons for the first time in his career in the two seasons under Grimm's tutelage. The 96.5 sack yards was the most in Kerrigan's career in a single season and he was one-of-nine players to record 13-plus sacks and three-plus forced fumbles in the league last season.

In his first season as outside linebacker coach in 2017, Grimm oversaw another stellar campaign by Ryan Kerrigan, who posted 13.0 sacks en route to his third Pro Bowl selection and became the first member of the Redskins to post consecutive campaigns with double-digit sack totals since 1985-86, when both Charles Mann and Dexter Manley accomplished the feat. Meanwhile, Grimm's coaching was integral in a resurgent campaign by third-year linebacker Preston Smith, who matched his career high with 8.0 sacks, including a sack in each of the team's first four games.

Grimm spent his first two seasons in Washington in 2014-15 serving in a defensive quality control capacity while also assisting the team's outside linebackers. In 2015, Grimm helped Smith lead all NFL rookies with 8.0 sacks, and a year later, Grimm and Greg Manusky helped Kerrigan and Trent Murphy become the first pair to record at least nine sacks each in a single season for the Redskins since Andre Carter and Brian Drakop in 2009.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Grimm spent two years in the same capacity with the San Diego Chargers. Grimm spent his first four NFL seasons with the Arizona Cardinals after entering the league in 2009 as an offensive quality control coach.

Grimm comes from a football pedigree. He is the son of Russ Grimm, a Pro Football Hall of Famer and three-time Super Bowl champion who stands as one of the most decorated players in Redskins history. Russ – a founding member of the franchise's famed "Hogs" – played 11 seasons in Washington from 1981-91 and served in various assistant roles for the team from 1992-2000. His brother, Cody, played at Virginia Tech, was a seventh-round draft pick by Tampa Bay in 2010 and played safety for the Buccaneers from 2010-12.

Grimm played collegiately as a linebacker and special teamer at Virginia Tech from 2003-06. The Fairfax native played both football and lacrosse at Oakton H.S. in Vienna, Va., helping the school reach the state finals in both sports for the first time in school history.

2014-Pres.	Wide Receivers Coach	Washington Redskins

Ike Hilliard is entering his seventh season as the Redskins wide receivers coach in 2019 after joining for his second stint with the team on January 20, 2014.

In 2018, Hilliard played a major role in wide receiver Josh Doctson setting single season career highs in receptions (44) and receiving yards (532). He also oversaw a season in which Jamison Crowder set a single season high in yards per reception with a mark of 13.4 and he was instrumental in the development of rookie wide receiver Trey Quinn who had success in the limited action he saw due to injury.

Hilliard oversaw a young wide receiver corps in 2017 that helped quarterback Kirk Cousins become the first player in team history to record a third consecutive 4,000-yard passing season. Jamison Crowder led the Redskins in receptions (66) and receiving yards (789), and at age 24 on the final day of the calendar year, became the youngest player to lead the Redskins in receptions since Gary Clark (24) in 1986, according to records provided by Pro Football Reference. Meanwhile, second-year pro Josh Doctson, who had been limited by injury to only two games in his rookie campaign, led the Redskins with six receiving touchdowns, and fourth-year pro Ryan Grant recorded career highs in receptions (45), receiving yards (573) and receiving touchdowns (four).

Hilliard's group played a major role in the Redskins' record-setting offense in 2016, a unit that set single-season team records in yards per game (403.4), yards per play (6.40), net passing yards (4,758), completions (407), passing first downs (226) and 500-yard games (three). Veteran wideouts Pierre Garçon (1,041) and DeSean Jackson (1,005) both eclipsed the 1,000-yard mark on the season, representing the first time the Redskins featured multiple 1,000-yard receivers since 1999 (Albert Connell and Michael Westbrook). Meanwhile, in his second season, Crowder took another step as one of the league's most underrated slot receivers, leading the Redskins with seven touchdown receptions while contributing 847 receiving yards on 67 receptions.

During the Redskins' NFC East championship season in 2015, Hilliard coached a group that prominently featured two prolific veterans (Garçon and Jackson) and two young players in their first or second NFL seasons (Crowder and Ryan Grant, respectively). Garçon posted 72 receptions, the second-highest total of his career, while Jackson recorded 528 receiving yards and four touchdowns despite being limited by injury to nine games. Hilliard's guidance also helped Crowder to a Redskins-rookie-record 59 receptions in 2015.

In his return to Washington in 2014, Hilliard oversaw the incorporation of Jackson into the team's offense after joining the team as a free agent. Jackson led the Redskins with 1,169 receiving yards on 56 receptions, becoming the fifth member of the Redskins to post 1,000 receiving yards in his first season in Washington (Bobby Mitchell in 1962, Henry Ellard in 1994, Laveranues Coles in 2003 and Santana Moss in 2005). Jackson averaged an NFL-best 20.9 yards per reception and was the first member of the Redskins to finish a season as the NFL leader in yards per reception since Henry Ellard (19.5 in 1996).

Hilliard served as wide receivers coach for the Buffalo Bills in 2013, helping mold a young group that included rookie second-round pick Robert Woods (40 receptions for 587 yards with three touchdowns) and rookie third-round pick Marquise Goodwin (17 receptions for 283 yards with three touchdowns).

In his first stint with the Redskins in 2012, Hilliard guided the team's receivers to the franchise's first division title since 1999. He incorporated free agents Pierre Garçon and Joshua Morgan into the offense, helping Garçon lead the team in receiving yards (633 in only 10 games) and helping Morgan lead the Redskins in receptions (48). Hilliard also oversaw the resurgence of veteran slot receiver Santana Moss, who caught 41 passes for 573 yards and eight touchdowns, his most since recording nine receiving touchdowns in his first season in Washington in 2005. The group's toughness on the perimeter also helped the offense rush for a league-best 2,709 yards, a franchise record.

In 2011, Hilliard served as the assistant wide receivers coach for the Miami Dolphins. He helped in the development of wide receiver Brandon Marshall, who was selected for his third Pro Bowl and first as a member of the Dolphins. Additionally, Marshall finished third in the AFC in receiving yards with 1,214 and recorded his fifth-consecutive 1,000-plus yard season.

Prior to joining the Dolphins, Hilliard spent two seasons coaching for the Florida Tuskers of the United Football League. Hilliard worked as a volunteer coach with the Tuskers in 2009 and was elevated to the position of Receivers Coach for 2010 under current Redskins Head Coach Jay Gruden.

As a player, Hilliard was a first-round selection in the 1997 NFL Draft (No. 7 overall). He played 12 seasons, eight with the New York Giants (1997-2004) and four with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2005-08). In 161 career games (106 starts), Hilliard caught 546 passes for 6,397 yards and 35 touchdowns.

Hilliard played collegiately at the University of Florida from 1994-96, catching 126 passes for 2,214 yards and 26 touchdowns. He earned first-team All-SEC and All-American honors as a junior. In the final game that season, he recorded seven catches for 150 yards and three touchdowns to help lead the Gators to a 52-20 Sugar Bowl win to secure the school's first national championship.

Hilliard is a native of Patterson, La.

in the NFL. He has coached for 24 seasons in the NFL along with a 10-year playing career as a defensive back for the Cincinnati Bengals and Dallas Cowboys. As a player he made it to the Super Bowl five times and is a three-time Super Bowl champion.

Horton held the role of defensive coordinator with the Tennessee Titans from 2014-15. In 2015, the Titans finished sixth in the NFL in sacks per pass play, seventh in passing yards allowed and eighth in rush average against. In his first season at the helm of the defense in 2014, the Titans registered at least one sack by 18 different defensive players which was a team record and the most by any team that season.

In 2013, Horton was responsible for one of the best turn-arounds for a defense in franchise history. After finishing 23rd in the league the previous year, the Browns finished the 2013 season ranked ninth in total defense, marking the team's best finish since the 1994 season. The Browns also finished the season eighth in rushing yards per carry, allowing a mark of 3.9 and also registered 40 sacks which was the most in franchise history since the 2001 campaign.

Horton spent the 2011-12 seasons as the defensive coordinator of the Arizona Cardinals. The unit also ranked second in the NFL in interceptions and third down efficiency, was third in red zone defense and fourth in takeaways. The defense was fifth in the league in overall passing defense and points allowed per drive. In his first season with Arizona, the defense allowed only 34 touchdowns which was their fewest allowed in a single season in franchise history since 1994.

Before becoming a defensive coordinator, Horton spent seven seasons as the defensive backs coach with the Pittsburgh Steelers. During his seven-year stint in Pittsburgh, Horton aided a Steelers defense that ranked in the top 10 in total defense all seven seasons, including leading the NFL in 2004, 2007 and 2008. Horton was a key factor in the development of safety Troy Polamalu who was selected to six consecutive Pro Bowls, was named first-team All-Pro three times and was the AP Defensive Player of the Year in 2010 during his tenure with the team.

Horton had stints with the Detroit Lions (2002-03) and Cincinnati Bengals (1997-01) and began his coaching career with the Washington Redskins where he served as an assistant defensive backs/defensive assistant for three seasons.

He was a second round (53rd overall) selection by the Cincinnati Bengals in the 1983 NFL Draft and appeared in 147 career games with 89 starts for the Bengals and Cowboys. He finished his career with 19 interceptions, 11 fumble recoveries, five forced fumbles and five defensive touchdowns.

running back coach in 2019 after initially being named to the position on January 26, 2014.

A nine-year NFL veteran as a player from 1993-2002, Jordan appeared in 122 career games with the Raiders and Jaguars. He was the recipient of the NFL Unsung Hero Award and the Ed Block Courage Award in 2001 and served as special teams captain for the Raiders' AFC Championship team in 2002.

In 2018, Jordan guided a group that ranked fourth in the NFL in rushing on second down and was a key factor in the offensive finishing seventh in the league in 3rd-and-1 conversion rate. He was also instrumental in running back Adrian Peterson having his best season since 2015. Peterson finished the season ranked fifth in rushing attempts (251), eighth in rushing yards (1,042) and third in fourth quarter rushing yards (332). Peterson also had the longest touchdown run of his career with a 90 yarder against the Philadelphia Eagles on Monday Night Football in Week 13.

In 2017, Jordan oversaw a group that was ravaged by injury, as his coaching acumen was called upon to prepare eight different running backs for game action, tied with Arizona for the most in the NFL. The group was particularly efficient as receivers out of the backfield, accounting for 885 receiving yards, the fourth-most in the NFL (Saints, 1,254; Patriots, 957; Browns, 923) and the most by a group of Redskins running backs since 2000 (1,127).

Jordan also presided over a breakout 2017 campaign for Chris Thompson, who led the Redskins in both rushing and receiving yards prior to suffering a season-ending injury in Week 11. Thompson recorded only the sixth season in franchise history with at least 275 rushing yards and at least 500 receiving yards and was one of six NFL players to accomplish the feat in 2017 (Todd Gurley II, Le'Veon Bell, Alvin Kamara, Christian McCaffrey and Duke Johnson Jr.), though Thompson accomplished the feat in 10 games while the other five players all appeared in at least 15 contests.

Jordan's hard-nosed approach to the position was evident in the team's running backs in 2016, a year in which the Redskins gained 1,058 of their rushing yards after contact, second-most in the NFL. Jordan oversaw the development of rookie free agent Rob Kelley, who ascended to the starting role mid-year and finished the season as the team's leader in rushing attempts (168), rushing yards (704) and rushing touchdowns (six). Jordan also helped Chris Thompson become the first member of the Redskins to record at least 325 rushing yards and 325 receiving yards in a single season since Roy Helu Jr. in 2011, all while serving as a critical component in pass protection to the team's record-setting aerial attack despite standing 5-foot-8 and 195 pounds.

In 2015, Jordan oversaw a rotating stable of backs that included workhorse Alfred Morris (202 carries for 751 yards with one touchdown), third-round pick Matt Jones (144 carries for 490 yards with three touchdowns) and Thompson (gained 6.2 yards per carry on 35 attempts). The group also contributed heavily in pass protection, helping the Redskins decrease their sack total from 58 in 2014 to 27 in 2015.

In his first season in Washington in 2014, Jordan helped Morris earn his second consecutive Pro Bowl berth, making Morris the first Redskins running back selected to consecutive Pro Bowls since Stephen Davis in 1999-2000. Morris joined Davis as the only backs in team history to record three consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons. Jordan's work was also evident in the play of fullback Darrel Young, who matched his career highs in rushing touchdowns (three) and receiving touchdowns (two) en route to a career-high five total touchdowns in 2014.

Before joining the Redskins, Jordan spent two years as the running backs coach at his alma mater, North Carolina. In his first season with UNC in 2012, Jordan's Tar Heels averaged 193.8 rushing yards per game, third-most in the Atlantic Coast Conference and the program's highest average since 1994. That season, he tutored tailback Giovani Bernard – who played for current Redskins Head Coach Jay Gruden in Cincinnati in 2013 – to one of the best seasons in UNC history, helping Bernard average 122.8 rushing yards per game, most in the ACC and 11th in the nation.

Jordan coached running backs at Texas A&M for four seasons from 2008-11. In 2011, the Aggies averaged 199.1 rushing yards per game, fourth-most in the Big 12 Conference, and had two different backs – Cyrus Gray and Christine Michael – finish among the top five in the conference in rushing yards per game.

Jordan left for Aggieland from the University of Nebraska where he served as the running backs coach for the Cornhuskers from 2004-07. Jordan helped shape the I-back position, coaching two 1,000-yard rushers in Cody Ross in 2004 and Marlon Lucky in 2007. He oversaw a committee of backs in 2006 that produced nearly 2,400 rushing yards and 26 rushing touchdowns, as an improved effort on the ground helped NU move from 107th in 2005 to 23rd nationally in rushing offense in 2006.

Jordan began his coaching career with the Oakland Raiders as a special teams assistant midway through the 2003 season. He played nine years in the NFL as a running back, playing in 122 career games from 1993 through 2002. He began his career with the Los Angeles Raiders before joining the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars in 1995 and playing three seasons. Jordan holds the distinction of scoring the very first touchdown for the Jacksonville club, a 71-yard reception against Cincinnati in 1995.

After the 1997 season, Jordan rejoined the Raiders' organization where he played five more seasons. In 1998, Jordan rushed for 159 yards for the Raiders. He had a career-high 213 yards rushing and three touchdowns in helping the Raiders reach the AFC Championship Game in 2000. He also caught 27 passes for 299 yards and a touchdown that same season.

Jordan finished his career with 574 yards rushing and seven touchdowns, while making 58 catches for 596 yards and two touchdowns. Jordan was also a standout special teams player. He finished his career with 801 yards on 38 career kick returns, including a season best of 553 yards on 26 returns for Jacksonville in 1996. He also recorded 64 career tackles on special teams.

Jordan played for the University of North Carolina under coach Mack Brown from 1989-92. He earned three letters for the Tar Heels rushing for 1,134 yards and nine touchdowns in his career, including 618 yards and seven touchdowns in 1991.

Jordan earned his bachelor's degree in speech communication from North Carolina in 1993. He was born in Manson, N.C. Jordan and his wife, Romonda, have a daughter, Raven – a volleyball player at the University at Buffalo – and two sons, Jalen and Justin.

Bret Munsey enters his sixth season with the Redskins in 2019 after initially joining the team during the 2014 offseason.

In 2018, Munsey helped oversee a unit that was ranked first in the NFL in kickoff returns allowed (13). He was a major part in guiding punter Tress Way who had a career season. Way finished the season with a league leading 41 punts inside the 20 yard line and was the only punter in the NFL to not record a touchback (minimum of 20 punts). He also finished the season with a 41.5 net average which was the ninth best mark in the league last season.

In 2017, Munsey and Special Teams Coordinator Ben Kotwica helped the Redskins rank second in the NFL in kickoff return average allowed at 18.7 yards per return, the team's lowest average allowed since 2001 (17.2). The performance guided the Redskins to their eighth Top 5 finish in the NFL (2006-11, 2015, 2017) in kickoff coverage in a 12-year span. The unit accomplished the feat despite being forced by injury-related attrition to use 66 different players on special teams, the franchise's most in a season in participation data records dating back to 1993.

Munsey helped a number of Redskins special teamers turn in notable performances in 2016. With 34 field goals on the year, kicker Dustin Hopkins broke Mark Moseley's team record of 33 field goals set in 1983. Meanwhile, returner Jamison Crowder ended the team's 124-game drought without a punt return for touchdown in Week 5 at Baltimore, returning a punt 85 yards for a touchdown in an eventual six-point win. The Redskins finished the season with an 11.9-yard punt return average, fourth-best in the NFL, marking the Redskins' first finish in the Top 5 in punt return average since leading the league in the category in 1995.

Munsey contributed to the Redskins' special teams success in 2015 during its NFC East championship season. The unit posted a Top 5 ranking in kickoff coverage (20.1 yards allowed per return) and contributed three special teams touchdowns, including a team-record-tying two kickoff returns for touchdowns and a blocked punt recovery for a touchdown.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Munsey served as a national scout for the Philadelphia Eagles during the 2013 season. He spent the 2012 season as the head coach of the Orlando Predators of the Arena Football League. Prior to his stint in Orlando, he served two seasons as the director of player personnel for the Florida Tuskers of the UFL (2009-10), working with current Redskins head coach Jay Gruden. In 2011, the team moved to Virginia Beach, and as Director of Personnel, Munsey helped guide the Virginia Destroyers to the 2011 UFL Championship.

From 2006-08, Munsey served as head coach of the AFL's Philadelphia Soul. Munsey finished with a 35-20 overall record, including a 16-3 record and Arena Bowl title in 2008. In his first season with the Soul, Munsey led the team to their first postseason appearance in franchise history, finishing with a 9-7 record.

From 2003-05, Munsey served as the secondary coach and director of player personnel for the Predators in his first stint in Orlando, working alongside Gruden, who was the team's head coach at the time. In 2002, Munsey was the head coach of the Tennessee Valley Vipers in the af2 league, where he was named the league's coach of the year. He spent one season with the Carolina Cobras of the AFL in 2001, after beginning his coaching career in 2000 as the defensive coordinator of the Augusta Stallions of af2.

A native of Winter Park, Fla., Munsey was a three-sport star at Winter Park H.S. He played collegiately at Concord University (W.Va.) and played professionally for the Predators from 1991-95.

In 2018, Rowe helped oversee a defensive back group that was one of the best in the league in forcing turnovers. The Redskins finished the season with 15 interceptions which was tied for the ninth best mark in the league. Among defensive backs in 2018, cornerbacks Josh Norman and Fabian Moreau and safety DJ Swearinger each had three forced fumbles and were all tied for the second most forced fumbles caused by a defensive back last season.

In his first season in Washington in 2017, Rowe and Defensive Backs Coach Torrian Gray helped the unit produce the team's strongest season against the pass in nearly a decade. The unit ranked third in the NFL in completion percentage allowed (57.6 percent), the team's best ranking since leading the NFL in the category in 2005 (54.4), while finishing ninth in passing yards allowed per game (213.8, the team's lowest since 2009) and 10th in opponent passer rating (81.0, lowest since 2008).

Prior to joining the Redskins, Rowe served as Defensive Coordinator at Valdosta State, helping the Blazers to an 8-3 record in 2016. He has held defensive coordinator roles with the New Orleans Saints (2013-15), Dallas Cowboys (2011-12), Cleveland Browns (2009-10) and Oakland Raiders (2004-08).

In the 2013 postseason, the Saints defeated the Philadelphia Eagles in the Wild Card Round of the playoffs and entered the game with the league's No. 2 ranked offense.

During his two-year tenure as the Dallas Cowboys defensive coordinator, Ryan worked with DLB Demarcus Ware who posted 10-plus sack seasons in 2011 and 2012. Ware finished No. 2 in the league in sacks in 2011 with 19.5, the second most in a single season in his 12-year NFL career.

Ryan spent the 2009-10 seasons as the defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns. His unit ranked No. 13 in the league in points allowed in 2010. Ryan was also instrumental in the development of rookie cornerback Joe Haden who posted six interceptions and finished tied for the fifth most in the league that season.

Ryan got his first defensive coordinator position in the NFL with the Oakland Raiders and held the role for five seasons from 2004-08. In 2006, his defense finished the season No. 3 in yards-per-game. He worked with CB Nnamdi Asomugha who posted eight interceptions in 2006 and finished tied for third in the league that season. During his tenure with Oakland, he also worked with DE Derrick Burgess who posted 10-plus sack seasons in 2005-06 and led the league in sacks in 2005 with 16.0.

Prior to joining the Raiders, Ryan served as the linebacker's coach with the New England Patriots from 2000-03. Ryan was part of a defense in 2003 that ranked No. 1 in the league in points allowed and No. 7 in total defense. During Ryan's four years in New England, the team captured two Super Bowls, defeating the St. Louis Rams in Super Bowl XXXVI and defeating the Carolina Panthers in Super Bowl XXXVIII.

Ryan got his start in the NFL coaching under his father, Buddy Ryan, as the defensive backs coach with the Arizona Cardinals from 1994-95. He was the position coach for Hall of Famer Aeneas Williams who registered 15 interceptions during the two seasons under Ryan. Williams' nine interceptions in 1994 were tied for first in the NFL that season.

NFL Europe experience included in separate box

Jim Tomsula enters his third season as the Redskins defensive line coach in 2019 after being named to the position on January 23, 2017.

Tomsula joined the Redskins in the 2017 offseason with 32 previous seasons of football experience at the high school, college and professional levels since the fall of 1989. Prior to joining the Redskins, he spent nine years with the San Francisco 49ers, including serving as the 19th head coach in franchise history in 2015 after serving one game as the team's interim head coach in 2010.

In 2018, Tomsula continued his work with defensive linemen Jonathan Allen and Matt Ioannidis as well as playing a huge role in the development of 2018 first-round pick Daron Payne and rookie Tim Settle. The Redskins finished the 2018 season ranked seventh in the league in sacks with 46 total. The combination of Allen, Ioannidis and Payne contributed 20.5 of those 46 total sacks. Ioannidis built on his impressive 2017 campaign with single season career highs in sacks (7.5), tackles (23) and tackles for loss (6) in 2018. Allen finished the season second on the team in sacks with 8.0, trailing only outside linebacker Ryan Kerrigan (13.0). Payne had an impressive rookie season and finished the 2018 campaign tied for fifth among rookies with 5.0 sacks.

In his first season in Washington in 2017, Tomsula inherited and developed a young group that included first-round pick Jonathan Allen and second-year players Matt Ioannidis and Anthony Lanier II in addition to veteran Ziggy Hood and free agent signings Terrell McClain and Stacy McGee. Both Ioannidis and Lanier made developmental leaps in their second seasons under Tomsula's purview, as Lanier led all Redskins defensive linemen with 5.0 sacks, the fifth-most by a Redskins defensive lineman since the team switched to a 3-4 base in 2010, while Ioannidis recorded career highs in games played (14), starts (10), total tackles (27), solo tackles (13), sacks (4.5) and forced fumbles (one).

During an eight-year run as the 49ers' defensive line coach from 2007-14, Tomsula was instrumental in developing one of the league's top-performing defenses in that timeframe. Across those eight seasons, the 49ers ranked fourth in the league in rushing yards allowed per game (98.4) and second in rushing average (3.72). San Francisco's defense also ranked third in the NFL in points per game allowed (19.4) and fourth in yards per game allowed (320.9) during that stretch. In 2011, Tomsula's defensive line and the San Francisco defense set an NFL record by not allowing a rushing touchdown in their first 14 games of the season. The team surrendered just three rushing touchdowns all year, the fewest allowed in the NFL since the league went to a 16-game schedule in 1978.

Under Tomsula's tutelage, defensive tackle Justin Smith was named to five consecutive Pro Bowls (2009-13) and earned All-Pro honors three times from 2011-13. Despite being the fourth overall pick in the 2001 NFL Draft, Smith had never been selected to either team prior to working with Tomsula.

Tomsula joined the 49ers after enjoying one of the most successful stints in NFL Europe history. Prior to being named the head coach of the Rhein Fire — which made him the youngest head coach in NFL history at age 38 in 2006 — Tomsula served as the Berlin Thunder's defensive coordinator for two seasons, winning World Bowl XII in his first season with a defense that ranked first in the NFL against the run.

Tomsula joined the NFL in 1998 as the defensive line coach of the England Monarchs. He then went on to serve in the same capacity for five seasons with the Scottish Claymores, where he established a reputation for producing some of the league's most dominant lines. He also played a leading role in mentoring and teaching young talent in the league's National Player Development program.

Between NFL Europe seasons, Tomsula spent each fall as a member of the coaching staff Division II Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C., where he had been a defensive lineman after transferring from Middle Tennessee State.

Tomsula's coaching career began with great uncertainty, but his desire to coach the game was steadfast. In 1989, Tomsula began his coaching career as an assistant at his alma mater following a career-ending knee injury. The following season, he went on to coach the defensive line at Woodland Hills [Pa.] H.S.. After spending the next two years out of coaching to provide for his family as a medical equipment sales rep with Thera-Kinetics, Tomsula landed a position as an assistant on the Charleston Southern University coaching staff (1992-95). He would once again spend two seasons out of coaching, as he returned to his hometown of Pittsburgh to serve as a sales representative with Cisco Foods. Urged by his family to continue his dream of coaching football, Tomsula returned to the coaching ranks in 1997 as the volunteer assistant defensive line coach at Catawba.

He and his wife, Julie, have two daughters, Britney and Brooke, and a son, Bear.

DOUG WILLIAMS
SR. VP OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

23RD NFL SEASON
10TH WITH REDSKINS

Doug Williams was named as the Redskins' Senior Vice President of Player Personnel on June 13, 2017, after initially returning to the team as a personnel executive in February 2014. In his current role, one of the most celebrated athletes in franchise history now helps lead and guide the efforts of the team's personnel department across the pro and collegiate scouting ranks.

"His résumé is impressive, as you all know, but it's really remarkable when you consider everything he's done that matters in this job. This job is daily communication and leadership of the personnel department. It's daily communication and leadership of our coaches and players," President Bruce Allen said upon Williams' promotion. "Doug being a high school coach, a high school athletic director, obviously an outstanding player, fits the role perfectly for where we want to be as Washington Redskins. His probably most-understated accomplishment, he's one of only a handful of people who is in two Ring of Honors in the NFL. And it's not just about the player, it's about the man."

Williams, a member of the 80 Greatest Redskins and a Redskins Ring of Famer, played with the Redskins from 1986-89 and led Washington to a Super Bowl XXII title, a 42-10 rout of the Denver Broncos. Williams, the first African-American quarterback to play in a Super Bowl, completed 18-of-29 passes for 340 yards with four touchdown passes to earn Super Bowl XXII MVP honors.

Williams is a veteran of 21 NFL seasons, including nine as a player and 12 in scouting/personnel roles. He spent five seasons as Personnel Executive with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers from 2004-08 before being named the team's Director of Pro Personnel for the 2009 season.

Williams joined the Buccaneers' front office in 2004 following a successful tenure as head coach at his alma mater, Grambling State, and one of the most storied playing careers in league and team history. His responsibilities in Tampa included coordinating the scouting and recruiting of all NFL players, while also monitoring NFL transactions and overseeing player tryouts. In addition, he was in charge of Tampa Bay's evaluating efforts of all other professional football leagues, including the Canadian Football League.

Williams, a first-round pick by Tampa Bay in the 1978 NFL Draft (17th overall), led the Buccaneers to the first three playoff appearances in team history. He propelled the team to three winning seasons (10-6 in 1979, 9-7 in 1981 and 5-4 in 1982), the only campaigns in franchise history with a winning record until more than 15 years later, in the 1997 season. Williams, who started 67 career games for the Buccaneers, was a two-time team MVP in 1980 and 1981. He ended his Tampa Bay career in 1982 as the all-time franchise leader in touchdown passes, passing yards, attempts and completions.

In 1986, the Redskins traded for Williams' rights following two seasons with the USFL's Oklahoma Outlaws. In Williams' Super Bowl XXII MVP performance following the 1987 season, he set or tied several Super Bowl passing records, including most TD passes (four), most yards passing (340), longest pass completion (80 yards) and longest TD pass (80 yards).

In six seasons during his first tenure (1998-2003) at Grambling State, Williams brought one of the most storied programs in college football history back to prominence, compiling a 52-18 record as head coach after succeeding the legendary Eddie Robinson, who was at the helm for 57 years from 1941-97 and re-wrote the record books as the winningest coach in the history of college football with 408 career wins.

Williams led the Tigers to three consecutive Southwestern Athletic Conference titles from 2000-02 as they were named National Black College Champions during the same three-year span. He was also named SWAC Coach of the Year in each of those three seasons. Williams was a two-time finalist for The Sports Network Eddie Robinson (Division I-AA) National Coach of the Year. He rejoined the program for three seasons from 2011-13, including earning the SWAC title in his first season back in 2011.

Williams started his college head coaching career at Morehouse College in 1997. He also has previous NFL experience as a scout for the Jacksonville Jaguars in 1995 and as offensive coordinator for the Scottish Claymores of the World League in 1995 and tutoring running backs for Navy in 1994. Williams also excelled on the high school level as head coach and athletic director at Point Coupee H.S. in New Roads, La., in 1991. In 1993, he was head coach at Northeast H.S. in his hometown of Zachary, La., where he guided the team to a 13-1 record and the state semifinals, including a win over Peyton Manning's Isidore Newman squad in the 1993 state quarterfinals.

As Grambling's quarterback from 1974-77, Williams had a spectacular college career as he passed for more than 8,000 yards and 93 touchdowns, leading the Tigers to three Black College National Championships and two SWAC titles. He posted a 35-5 record as a starter and finished fourth in voting for the 1977 Heisman Trophy.

In 2005, Williams and Shack Harris established The Shack Harris & Doug Williams Foundation with the function of providing grants for after-school initiatives, leadership development, mentoring programs and minority higher education assistance for economically disadvantaged youth. In March of 2009, the foundation put on its first annual Washington Football Legends for Charity in Washington, D.C. In 2010, the foundation established the Black College Football Hall of Fame, which will move to its new home in Canton, Ohio in 2018.

After Super Bowl XLII, the NFL honored the 20th anniversary of Williams' Super Bowl XXII victory as Williams was chosen to present the Lombardi Trophy to the New York Giants following their victory over the New England Patriots.

Williams and his wife, Raunda, have eight children: Ashley, Adrian, Carmelela, Doug, Jr., Jasmine, Laura, Lee and Temesia.

ERIC SCHAFER
SR. VP OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS/GENERAL COUNSEL

17TH NFL SEASON
17TH WITH REDSKINS

Eric Schaffer, now entering his 17th season with the Redskins in 2019, currently serves as the franchise's Senior Vice President of Football Operations and General Counsel.

Schaffer was promoted to his current role as Senior Vice President of Football Operations on June 13, 2017, and now assumes a larger role in the leadership and oversight of the team's personnel department. He remains the club's chief contract negotiator and is responsible for the strategic planning, management and forecasting of the Redskins' salary cap and cash budgets. In addition, Schaffer oversees extensive research and analysis of NFL player contracts and evaluates the roster composition of each club throughout the NFL. He also serves as the Redskins' primary liaison to the NFL Management Council.

In addition to his role as Senior Vice President of Football Operations, Schaffer serves as the Redskins' General Counsel, advising the club on all legal matters and contributing significantly to the team's business operations. His areas of oversight include sponsorships, licensing, vendor and employment agreements (for football and non-football employees), human resources issues, team litigation, as well as workers' compensation, among various others. Schaffer also serves as a board member of the Washington Redskins Charitable Foundation.

Schaffer works closely with President Bruce Allen, Senior Vice President of Player Personnel Doug Williams and Head Coach Jay Gruden along with the team's personnel staff to help shape the Redskins' roster. This offseason, he negotiated the contract for safety Landon Collins and helped secure the three-time Pro Bowler with a six-year deal. In addition, he negotiated the contract extension with standout defensive lineman Matt Ioannidis just prior to the draft, ensuring that the core members of the defensive line will stay together for the foreseeable future.

In 2018, Schaffer negotiated a long-term contract for Alex Smith that secured Smith's trade from the Kansas City Chiefs. At the start of the NFL league year, he quickly signed up-and-coming receiver Paul Richardson Jr.

In 2017, Schaffer negotiated a contract extension for Morgan Moses, one of the game's top young right tackles. Moses' contract was yet another multi-year extension to which Schaffer has signed the team's young talent in recent years, including deals with perennial Pro Bowler Trent Williams, Ryan Kerrigan, Jordan Reed, Tress Way and others. Schaffer also led the charge on key free agency additions in 2017, including the acquisitions of Brown, safety D.J. Swearinger, and defensive lineman Stacy McGee.

Prior to the 2016 season, Schaffer and the Redskins mobilized quickly to recruit and sign All-Pro cornerback Josh Norman. The moves followed a 2015 season in which Schaffer and the Redskins adeptly added veteran leaders with winning pedigrees to a young roster that ultimately secured the NFC East title. He has adroitly navigated the salary cap each year, including helping the club overcome a $36 million cap penalty in 2012 en route to its first NFC East title since 1999.

In the 2011 offseason abbreviated by the NFL labor dispute, Schaffer helped the team secure several key players in a flurry of activity after a new Collective Bargaining Agreement was agreed upon by the NFL and NFLPA. In 16 years (2003-18) with the Redskins, Schaffer has negotiated the contracts for every one of Washington's draft picks, including 24 first- and second-round picks.

Schaffer originally joined the Redskins in 2003 as the team's salary cap manager. He was promoted first to Director of Football Administration in 2005 and again to Vice President of Football Administration in 2007. He added the General Counsel role in 2012.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Schaffer spent 11 years with International Management Group (IMG) in various roles. He started as an intern for IMG's founder, the late Mark McCormack, and moved on to their motorsports division where he sold corporate sponsorships and managed young drivers. He eventually became the staff counsel for IMG Football, where he oversaw all legal issues related to 90 NFL clients and negotiated player contracts as an NFLPA registered agent.

Schaffer holds both a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Michigan and a law degree from Case Western Reserve University, where he completed his studies while working full-time for IMG. A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he is a member of the Ohio Bar Association as well as admitted in Virginia as Club Counsel. Schaffer currently resides in Ashburn, Va., with his wife, Jaymie, and three children, Cameron (13), Logan (11), and Bailey (8).

ALEX SANTOS
DIRECTOR OF PRO PERSONNEL

14TH NFL SEASON
14TH WITH REDSKINS

Alex Santos enters his 14th season with Washington in 2019 and his seventh as the Redskins' Director of Pro Personnel after being named to his current role on May 31, 2014. He is responsible for coordinating the advance scouting of Redskins opponents and the evaluation of all professional leagues for potential free agents and trade prospects. He also contributes to the team's draft preparation, making school visits to help evaluate top college talent.

In addition to helping the team acquire top talent in unrestricted free agency, Santos has routinely helped supplement the Redskins' roster by identifying key midseason additions. As the team faced an injury-ravaged 2017 campaign, Santos and his staff added a number of players that became important contributors down the stretch, including running back Kapri Bibbs (caught a 36-yard touchdown pass in his Washington debut in Week 15), versatile offensive lineman Tony Bergstrom (played in nine games with three starts) and kicker Nick Rose (10-of-11 on field goal attempts with the Redskins while filling in for an injured Dustin Hopkins).

In 2015, thanks in part to Santos and his staff, the Redskins received significant contributions from a number of in-season signings during the team's NFC East championship campaign, including cornerback Will Blackmon (tied for team lead in interceptions after signing prior to Week 2), linebacker Mason Foster (started the final five games of the season after signing in Week 4) and running back Pierre Thomas (caught seven passes for 67 yards in division-clinching win after signing with the team only two weeks earlier).

Santos previously spent five seasons from 2009-13 as a pro scout, where in addition to the advance scouting of opponents, he was responsible for assisting with the club's evaluation of personnel in the NFL and Canadian Football League. He originally joined the Redskins in 2006 as a pro personnel assistant.

Santos spent 2005 as a graduate assistant and quality control/offensive line intern coach at Vanderbilt University. Prior to that, he was the assistant head football coach at

10TH NFL SEASON
10TH WITH REDSKINS

Kyle Smith is entering his 10th season with the Redskins and his third as the team's Director of College Personnel in 2018.

Smith initially joined the team on a full-time basis as an area scout during the 2011 offseason. After being promoted to Director of College Personnel in June 2017, Smith now oversees the organization's evaluation of collegiate talent, managing scouting efforts at both the area and national levels.

Smith began his professional career as an intern with the Redskins in 2010. He joined the team on a full-time basis in 2011 and spent six seasons as an area scout for the organization. Prior to his promotion to Director of College Personnel, he most recently oversaw the team's scouting efforts in the Southeast region, a region that produced the team's first- and second-round picks in both the 2017 and 2018 NFL Drafts.

Smith was a vital part of the team's 2019 NFL Draft. The Redskins selected 10 players, including two in the first round for the first time since 2005. Among the selections were first-round quarterback Dwayne Haskins, who joined the Redskins following a standout season at Ohio State where he threw for 4,831 yards with 50 touchdowns and only eight interceptions and first-round linebacker Montez Sweat who the team acquired via a trade with the Indianapolis Colts. Sweat registered 30 sacks in two seasons at Mississippi State and was regarded as one of the best edge rushers in the 2019 draft class.

In his first draft as Director of College Personnel, Smith collaborated with his staff and Senior Vice President of Player Personnel Doug Williams in identifying and selecting the eight players that comprised the team's 2018 draft class. Among the selections were first-round defensive lineman Daron Payne, who joined the Redskins following his dominant showing for Alabama in the College Football Playoff, as well as second-round running back Derrius Guice, who exited his collegiate career at LSU ranked second only to Auburn legend Bo Jackson in yards per carry in SEC history.

Smith graduated from Youngstown State, where he was twice named honorable mention all-conference while playing wide receiver and punt returner from 2002-05. He finished his collegiate career ranked 11th in program history in career receptions (101) and receiving yards (1,534), third in punt returns (56) and fourth in punt return yards (377). Smith also owned the school record for consecutive games with a reception (30).

As a senior, Smith was elected a team captain and earned the team's Most Valuable Player Award. Following the season he was invited to play in the 2006 Hula Bowl All-Star Game. Smith signed as a college free agent with the Minnesota Vikings, where he spent part of the 2006 offseason. In January of 2007, he was signed by Tampa Bay, which allocated him to NFL Europe's Berlin Thunder. He later had practice squad stints in the Arena Football League and Canadian Football League.

Smith was born in Warwick, R.I., and raised in Buffalo, N.Y. He is the son of long-time NFL executive A.J. Smith.

GAME 1

Lincoln Financial Field (Philadelphia, Pa.)

EAGLES 32, REDSKINS 27

PHILADELPHIA - DeSean Jackson's homecoming turned into a highlight show for the speedy receiver.

Carson Wentz threw a pair of deep touchdown passes to Jackson, and the Philadelphia Eagles overcame a 17-point deficit to beat the Washington Redskins 32-27 on Sunday.

Wentz was 28 of 39 for 313 yards and three TDs in his first game since Week 14 after not taking a snap in the preseason. Jackson had eight catches for 154 yards. The Eagles racked up 436 total yards.

Case Keenum threw for 380 yards and three TDs, helping the Redskins build a 17-0 lead in his first start with his fourth team in four seasons.

But Philadelphia's high-powered offense took over and the defense settled down after a sloppy start.

Playing his first game back in Philadelphia since former Eagles coach Chip Kelly cut him following his third Pro Bowl season in 2013, Jackson picked up where he left off six years ago and showed no signs of slowing down at age 32.

Jackson blew past the defense on a third-and-10 in the third quarter, caught Wentz's pass inside the 10 and strolled into the end zone to give the Eagles a 21-20 lead. The 53-yard TD reception was Jackson's second of 50-plus yards in the game and the 31st of his career. Only Hall of Famer Jerry Rice had more at 36.

Zach Ertz caught a 26-yard pass to set up Alshon Jeffery's first career rushing score on the first play of the fourth quarter. Jeffery caught a backward pass from Wentz and fought his way into the end zone. Darren Sproles ran in for the 2-point conversion to extend the lead to 29-20.

The Eagles trailed 17-0 in the second quarter when Jackson made an over-the-shoulder, 51-yard TD catch.

Wentz found Jeffery going across the back of the end zone for a 5-yard TD pass to cut Washington's lead to 20-14 in the third quarter.

Keenum hit Terry McLaurin perfectly in stride on a deep pass for a 70-yard TD to give the Redskins a 17-0 lead, inciting the first boos from fans anticipating a championship season.

The Redskins got the ball to start and scored a touchdown on the season's opening drive for the first time since 2004. Vernon Davis turned a short pass from Keenum into a 48-yard score after hurdling Ronald Darby and breaking a tackle on his way down the right sideline.

FedEx Field (Landover, Md.)

Cowboys 31, REDSKINS 21

LANDOVER, Md. [AP] — Dak Prescott probably could have kept running — maybe all the way to the end zone.

Instead, the Dallas Cowboys quarterback stiff-armed Washington Redskins cornerback Josh Norman to put an exclamation point on his longest run of the game. Prescott spent Sunday afternoon carving up the Redskins' defense with his arms and legs to the tune of 26 of 30 passing for 269 yards and three touchdowns and 69 yards rushing in a 31-21 Cowboys victory to improve to 2-0.

A week after putting up a perfect 158.3 QB rating, Prescott responded from an interception to lead Dallas on consecutive touchdown drives of 97, 83 and 75 yards. At one point, he completed 18 consecutive passes and wondered the last time he had an incomplection.

On the verge of a contract extension that's expected to guarantee him over $30 million, Prescott connected with three receivers on the touchdowns: Devin Smith, Jason Witten and Cooper. Less than two weeks removed from ending his holdout and agreeing to a $90 million, six-year deal, Ezekiel Elliott had his workload increased to 23 carries for 111 yards and ran for a touchdown.

It was a game that felt like it was being played deep in the heart of Texas — an entire side of the lower bowl was full of blue and white Cowboys jerseys, who just about outnumbered Redskins fans. Sounds of "Coop" filled the stadium after Cooper's catches, and there was a loud "DE-FENSE" chant when Washington had the ball.

The Redskins (0-2) got a rushing touchdown from Adrian Peterson and passing TDs from Case Keenum to Paul Richardson and rookie Terry McLaurin. But their banged-up defense playing without two starters struggled to contain Prescott or cover his receivers.

Prescott hasn't had a stretch as good as this in his NFL career, which comes at a perfect juncture amid contract negotiations.

BEARS 31, REDSKINS 15

LANDOVER, Md. [AP] — After the Chicago Bears' offense was slow to get going this season, Mitchell Trubisky was excited to speed things up.

Trubisky and the Bears used a no-huddle, hurry-up tempo to snap out of their offensive funk and score 28 first-half points on the way to beating the Washington Redskins 31-15 Monday night. After no passing touchdowns the first two games of the year, Trubisky connected with Taylor Gabriel on three of them in the second quarter alone.

The 2017 second overall pick looked at ease with a fast-paced approach and picked apart Washington's porous defense on 25 of 31 passing for 231 yards. It was the offensive explosion Trubisky predicted would happen this week.

Chicago (2-1) had just a 1-yard touchdown run to show for its first two games, and Trubisky entered the night with a completion percentage of 58.3 and ranked near the bottom of the league in yards per attempt. Facing the Redskins (0-3) brought out some of the best in Trubisky. Trubisky had 173 yards in the first half alone before throwing an interception at the goal line in the third quarter.

With scores of 1, 3 and 36 yards, Gabriel joined Mike Ditka in 1963 as the only Bears receivers with three TD catches in the first half of a game. Gabriel made six catches for 75 yards before leaving in the second half with a concussion.

The Bears took advantage of five turnovers by Redskins quarterback Case Keenum: two interceptions by Ha Ha Clinton-Dix, including a pick six, another by Kyle Fuller and fumbles forced by Khalil Mack and Danny Trevathan.

With the offense up to the defense's speed in the first half, Chicago put up 28 points in two quarters after scoring a total of 19 the past two weeks, 12 of which came on field goals from Eddy Piñeiro.

Mack had two of the Bears' four sacks to continue a dominant start by the defense that didn't give up a Washington TD until midway through the third quarter. Keenum's two TD passes came long after fans chanted for rookie quarterback Dwayne Haskins and booed the Redskins off the field at halftime.

GIANTS 24, REDSKINS 3

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. [AP] — Daniel Jones provided the spark and the New York Giants are feeding off it on what they hope is the path back to the playoff hunt.

Jones threw a touchdown pass and created excitement with his arm and legs, Saquon Barkley's replacement Wayne Gallman scored two touchdowns, and Jabrill Peppers scored on a 32-yard interception return to lead the suddenly revived Giants to 24-3 victory over the winless Washington Redskins on Sunday.

The mistake-prone Redskins (0-4) are heading the other way. They were limited to 176 total yards by the much-maligned New York defense and they didn't get a boost when embattled coach Jay Gruden inserted first-round pick Dwayne Haskins Jr. at quarterback for Case Keenum.

New York intercepted the pair four times, with Haskins throwing the last three.

The Redskins' start is their worst since losing their first five in 2001.

Jones, the No. 6 pick overall in the draft, has the Giants thinking about the here and now since replacing two-time Super Bowl MVP Eli Manning as the starting quarterback. He rallied New York from an 18-point deficit in his first start against the Buccaneers last week, and was solid early, leading New York to touchdown runs on its first two series.

The Duke product was 23 of 31 for 225 yards with two interceptions. Winning tends to overshadow the mistakes.

Gallman, who is going to start for the foreseeable future with Barkley battling a high ankle sprain, caught a 6-yard TD pass and scored on a 1-yard run to stake New York to a 14-0 lead.

Keenum was 6 of 11 for 37 yards and an interception when Haskins came on midway through the second quarter. The move came after Quinton Dunbar picked off Jones on consecutive passes, but Haskins went 9 of 17 for 107 yards and could produce only a 21-yard field goal by Dustin Hopkins on his initial series. He was picked off three times, the last two by Janoris Jenkins.

Keenum, who had battled a foot injury this week, did not sound happy being lifted. He said he was surprised.

Rookie linebacker Ryan Connelly's second interception in as many weeks set up an opening 32-yard drive that Gallman ended with his reception. Gallman's short run ended a 13-play, 94-yard march the Redskins kept alive when a third-down holding penalty on cornerback Fabian Moreau nullified a sack.

Washington was flagged 12 times for 58 yards.

Jones kept the first drive alive with a 5-yard pass to Sterling Shepard on a gutsy decision by coach Pat Shurmur to go for it on fourth-and-2 at the Redskins 24.

Aldrick Rosas kicked a 30-yard field goal on the final play of the first half and Peppers closed out the scoring with his interception return.
